Milk Fund Hiked

Added By 89-0 Rollcall After Bitter Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate approved an additional 60 million dollars for the school milk program Wednesday night and wrote it into the omnibus farm bill after one of the angriest rows of the whole farm debate.

All opposition to the amendment finally collapsed, but not before Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) accused Democrats of playing "low grade politics" on the issue.

Aiken, the administration's spokesman on the farm bill, also charged that some senators were trying to kill the legislation by loading it with provisions that President Eisenhower must veto "in self-respect."

This objection did not apply to the politically popular milk program, however.

Concessions

Aiken opposed inclusion of the milk program in the bill on the ground it would force the Senate to make concessions to the House in conference to protect this and other popular sections of the bill.

The House version of the farm bill calls for a return to 90 per cent of parity on crop supports, a policy the Eisenhower administration is dead set against. There are reports that the house will insist on high, rigid supports if there is to be a farm bill this year.

The storm broke when Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) moved to amend the bill to add 10 million dollars to the 50 million availabe for the school milk program in the current fiscal year and two million to the 15 million available for the campaign against brucellosis, a livestock disease which causes undulant fever in humans.

The Humphrey amendment also would raise funds for the milk program during the next two years to 75 million annually, instead of the 50 million in the current program, and boost the brucellosis funds to 20 million, instead of the present 15 milliom.

"I've seen a lot of low grade politics since I've been here but I've never seen anything lower than this," Aiken exploded.

The milk and brucellosis programs are covered in separate legislation passed a month ago, but the House and Senate are deadlocked on efforts to compromise their differing versions.

Aiken protested it was wrong to "throw this into the political maelstrom so it can be used as a political blackjack."

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) shouted "this is the most diabolical situation I have seen in my 12 years in the Senate."

But Hickenlooper said he would vote for the Humphrey amendment because "I don't want people to say on the basis of the naked record that Hickenlooper voted against the school program."

Apparently other senators opposed to the amendment felt the same way, because when it was pushed through to a rollcall vote it was adopted 89-0.

'Murderer'

At one time the debate became so hot that Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said Humphrey had been "practically called a murderer" by Aiken. Humphrey himself expressed resentment at "the comments that have been made on this floor." In a cooling off period later, Aiken, said he wanted to withdraw some of the remarks he had made about Humphrey. He also apologized to Anderson.

After disposing of the Humphrey amendment, the Senate rejected 58-29 a proposal by Republican Sens. Payne and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine to include potatoes and many other surplus crops in the soil bank program.

Eden Stands Firm

Island Policy Approved In Commons

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden Wednesday night won parliamentary approval of his government's controversial policies on troubled Cyprus.

The House of Commons gave Eden a 317-252 vote of support after he declared Britain had to exile Archbishop Makarios or abdicate control over the eastern Mediterranean Island colony.

Loss of Cyprus, Eden declared, would endanger the free world's defenses and Britain's vital Middle East oil supply.

Eden made no direct reference to any American criticism of his handling of the problem, or to the resulting irritation in British-American relations.

To Stand Firm

But he made it plain to critics both here and abroad that he intends to stand firm on the issue.

Surrender, he said, would weaken the entire western defense system from the Mediterranean to the Persian Gulf. As Britain's last Middle East base, Cyprus is a hinge of the related NATO and Baghdad pact defense lineups.

Eden declared that the archbishop, Greek Orthodox leader of the Cypriot union-with-Greece movement not only refused to call off the terrorists on the island but, "by his silence, he has taken to approve assassination and murder."

The black-bearded, Boston-educated archbishop and three of his lieutenants were spitited away from Cyprus by British authorities last Friday. They arrived aboard the British frigate Loch Fada Wednesday at the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean, their place of exile.

Fire Engulfs Hospital Unit In Missouri

FULTON, Mo. (AP)—A fire, believed to have started on the roof, engulfed the administration building at Missouri State Mental Hospital No. 1 shortly before midnight Wednesday. There were no early reports of injuries.

Newsman Jack Webb, among the first at the scene, said about 120 ambulatory patients in the building were evacuated. Two fire trucks from Fulton were at the scene and additional help was on the way from nearby Jefferson City, Columbia and Mexico, Mo.

The administration building was over 100 years old.

Firemen said the chance of casualties would be limited if the blaze was confined to the one building. But fire fighters were still battling the blaze in an attempt to keep it from spreading to other nearby buildings housing some 2,500 patients.

2nd Bomb Blasted Near Omaha Firm

OMAHA (AP)—A bomb exploded just outside the Central Construction Co. office here early Thursday morning. No one was injured, but the office part of the building was partly wrecked.

The bomb was put almost exactly in the same spot where one was exploded several weeks ago. investigators said. The firm has had no labor trouble.

Politics Are Loud At Mock Session

NU Student's Convention Real; Simmons Lauds GOP's 'New Look'

By ELLIS RALL
Star Staff Writer

The battle of the ballot raged Wednesday night at the University of Nebraska coliseum as some 300 to 400 students transformed themselves into politicians. They locked political horns over the adoption of rules at the opening session of the Mock Political Convention.

Twice the submitted rules were voted down by voice before Chairman Charles Gomon of Norfolk was forced to abandon the voice procedure in favor of the slower roll call vote. Enthusiastic students rocked the rafters of the building with their tumultuous voice votes, leaving the chair in doubt on several occasions.

No Action

The session adjourned without acting on the platform committee report. It will be taken up at 3 p.m. Thursday.

The main points of controversy in the fight centered primarily around two rules—the unit rule and the ⅔ vote rule.

Permanent officers named at the session included James Olson of Lincoln, sergeant-at-arms; Mary Elisabeth Taylor of Omaha, secretary, and Frances Eicke of Rosalie, assistant secretary.

Advisors named were James Harrison, Prof. James Sellers, Robert Perry and Hugo Srb. Each will act as an adviser during the sessions.

Paraphernalia

The delegations, formed from organized houses on the campus, outfitted themselves with typical convention-type equipment — placards, signs and all.

One delegation, Alabama, of Kappa Delta membership, burst into the convention hall behind a brass band blaring "Dixie."

In the air of confusion it was apparent some delegations at the non-partisan had already chosen their candidates. Illinois favored Stevenson and were not hesitant to display the fact.

Alabama's choice floated above the crowds, painted on vivid balloons. They want Russell. Arizona sported posters on Ensenhower in color. Kefauver signs waved elsewhere.

Keynote Republican speaker during the session was Ray Simmons, a Fremont attorney active in GOP work. The son of the chief justice of the State Supreme Court, Simmons is also state chairman of the Nebraska Junior Bar.

He replaced the announced speaker, Mrs. Hazel Abel who could not attend.

"Polls and other indications," he said, "show that the Republican Party is on the homestretch towards becoming the major party preference of the majority of Americans."

Prosperity, Peace

He said the GOP stands for prosperity, peace and leadership.

"The Republican Party is now taking on a 'New Look'," he said. He described it as "dynamic conservatism" and the outlook of President Eisenhower, who he termed the "most popular president in the history of the U.S."

Cathedral Fire Kills 3 In N.J.

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — The rector of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Cathedral and two housekeepers he tried to warn died Wednesday as roaring flames destroyed the historic church and adjoining rectory in pre-dawn hours.

The heroism of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Richard T. Crean, 55-year-old vicar general of the Trenton Diocese, was told by four younger priests, who escaped dramatically along with a cook.

The 85-year-old Gothic type cathedral, built on a Revolutionary War site, was consumed by flames that leaped 75 to 100 feet above its towering spire in the heart of the capital city. Damage was estimated unofficially at three million dollars.

Msgr. Crean, who had lived half his lifetime in the church, was found dead on the third floor of the four-story brownstone rectory.

Tried Warning

His own quarters were on the second floor. The priests said he had called to them and apparently tried to warn the housekeepers Miss Mary Brennan and Miss Mary Donnellan, who died in their fourth floor rooms.

The fire broke out during a heavy rainstorm.

The cathedral fire, the most spectacular in the city in 30 years, was marked by moments of terror and dramatic rescues. Burning roof timbers fell into the pews below.

Three priests were injured. One was burned as he clung to a radio aerial wire awaiting rescue and another was hurt in a leap into a firemen's met.

The Rev. William Fitzgerald, 30, of South Amboy, said "I think the monsignor was caught trying to wake everyone."

Statewide Power Agency Proposed

Nebraska legislators Wednesday were presented, at a meeting in North Platte, with a proposal for creation of a statewide Nebraska Public Power District, to combine the present functions of the "hydro" districts and the Nebraska Public Power System.

A similar explanation meeting is to be held Thursday in Columbus.

Stevenson Not Disheartened

Adlai 'Surprised And Pleased' By His Showing In New Hampshire

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON (INS)—Vice President Nixon said Wednesday he could have "no greater reward" than President Eisenhower's endorsement of him as his 1956 running mate.

The President's news conference comments cheered Republicans and brought this statement from Nixon:

"There could be no greater reward for a man in public life than to have the President speak of him so generously as he has of my work on several occasions during the past three years.

"All I can say is that I shall try to continue day by day to do the best job I can in behalf of the Eisenhower administration."

Meanwhile, the Democratic ticket was left more uncertain than ever by New Hampshire's promary result.

While Mr. Eisenhower and Nixon were recording victories in New Hampshire Tuesday, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) put new fire into the Democratic presidential contest by winning all 12 of the state's delegates. They represent eight convention votes.

It was a damaging but by no means crippling blow to Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee and front-running candidate for 1956.

Stevenson did not personally enter the New Hampshire race but a strong slate of delegates ran in his behalf.

Stevenson said he was "surprised and pleased" over receiving one-third of the Democratic vote in New Hampshire, despite the fact he had not actively participated in the contest.

But F. Joseph Donohue, Kefauver campaign manager, said the results "will cause the leaders of the Democratic party to reassess their thinking" in picking the 1956 ticket.

Senate Republicans generally declared their "delight" over the President's firm news conference statement that he would be "happy" to have Nixon as his running mate again.

Minnesota Next

BRAINERD, Minn. (AP)—Bolstered by his victory in the New Hampshire primary election, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) Wednesday continued to chip away at Republican farm policy.

Kefauver told a crowd of about 100 here he thought heads of agricultural agencies in government should be "people interested in the farmer and people who believe in the farmer, not people like Secretary of Agriculture Benson who apparently is serving Wall Street bankers." His remark came after he spoke of "Benson's support of higher interest rates for farmers."

The senator, stumping for support against Adlai Stevenson in Tuesday's Minnesota presidential primary election, said it was "quite apparent pressure was put on Republican congressmen who had indicated they would vote for high farm price supports to change their votes.

Write-In Tribute

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP) — Republicans agreed Wednesday night that Vice President Nixon's stunning write-in tribute in New Hampshire's presidential primary has sent his political stock soaring.

And there was an abundance of evidence to back them up.

Some GOP leaders saw the spontaneous demonstration of widespread support for the much-discussed vice president as a virtual guarantee of another Eisenhower-Nixon ticket in the fall.

Others spoke of "a mandate from the people."

Even some Democrats interpreted Nixon's achievement as a sign that he has much greater "grass roots" appeal than many party leaders had believed.

Thus, the 22,000-odd votes which Nixon received in Tuesday's balloting may eventually have a significance far beyond their actual number.

Voters in the nation's first presidential primary of this compaign year also spoke out clearly on several other subjects:

Kefauver gets a Boost

They gave Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) a big boost in his second bid for the Democratic presidential nomination by endorsing a slate of delegates pledged by law to cast eight votes for him at Chicago.

Kefauver candidates handily whipped a slate supporting Adali Stevenson, who rejected the senator's challenge to enter the primary personally.

They cast more than 21,000 votes for the tall Tennesseean in the presidential preference section of the two-pronged ballot where he was unopposed.

Stevenson, the former Illinois governor who won the Democratic nomination from Kefauver four years ago although the senator led on the first two convention roll calls, received 4,013 write-in votes.

Voters registered an overwhelming preference for President Eisenhower to carry the Republican banner in the November election by giving him 56,051 votes in the so-called popularity contest.

Ag Campus Dorms Bid $585,375

Wilson Low On Two Facilities

Wilson Construction Co. of Lincoln has submitted the low base bid of $585,375 for the general construction contract for two dormitories at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Bids were opened Wednesday afternoon at the University.

Low bidder on the mechanical contract was Ray Martin Co. of Lincoln with a bid of $96,000. Commonwealth Electric Co. of Lincoln submitted a low bid of $53,700 for the electrical contract.

Next Thursday the University will receive bids for the construction of an addition to the Women's Residence Halls, estimated at about $500,000, on the city campus. Those bids with the ones received Wednesday will be submitted to the University Regents for action on March 24.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin said the projects were planned to help meet expected enrollment increases and are being financed by revenue bonds to be retired from student rentals.

Ready In 1957

One of the dormitories on the Agriculture College campus will house 70 women; the other 236 men. The addition to the Women's Residence Halls will accomodate 160 girls. Work on all the buildings, Chancellor Hardin said, is expected to start this spring and all are to be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1957.

The Chancellor said that pending the construction of the new residential facilities the University will be able to accomodate women students adequately in existing quarters, including the Colonial Terrace apartments, recently purchased in the vicinity of the College of Agricuiture, and International House on the City campus.

The Colonial Terrace apartments eventually will be available for faculty use and International House as a faculty club but not until after the new dormitory facilities are open for students.

MYSTERY ON THE MOUNTAIN

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

The twenty-sixth chapter in The Star's Lenten series.)

By APRIL OURSLER ARMSTRONG

Jesus knew many who did not witness it did not believe the miracle of the loaves and fishes. And, so no one should ever doubt, so every one would study the meaning of that miracle, Jesus did it again.

This time Jesus led the throngs into the wilderness for three days! As before, Jesus sent His apostles among them to collect what food they had. This time there were seven loaves, and a few fishes among four thousand people. And Jesus blessed the food, and multiplied it, and all were fed. And Jesus said:

"My Father gives you the true bread from heaven. For the bread of God comes down from heaven, and gives life to the world."

The people answered: "Lord — give us always of this bread!"

"I am the bread of life!" said Jesus. "He who comes to Me shall not hunger, and he that believes in Me shall not thirst.'

The people stared in amazement. They did not like the sound of that! The same people who had been delighted with His wonders, so proud to eat of the miraculous loaves and fishes, now grumbled and growled.

Suddenly from the heavens came two men shining like stars, talking with Jesus! One was Moses, the other Elias . . .

"What does He mean calling Himself 'the bread of life?' "

Crumbs of bread still clinging to their beards they turned and walked away. "Why doesn't He wear a crown?" they snorted. "If God is His Father, why is He like an ordinary Man?"

They left Him, because He was what God wanted Him to be — and not what they wanted Him to be! Shocked and angry, they left, hundreds and thousands of men who had followed Him for years.

Jesus asked the twelve apostles: "Will you also go away?"

Peter answered for them. "Lord — to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life."

Then Jesus asked:

"Whom do people say I am?"

Some thought Jesus was actually John the Baptist come back to

Nixon Wins Nod--If He Wants It

Ike Says He's Like Brother

Moderation Urged In Integration Dispute

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower declared Wednesday Vice President Nixon is like a brother to him and: "I would be happy to be on any political ticket in which I was a candidate with him."

This seemed mighty close to an endorsement of Nixon as Eisenhower's running mate. It left the door open, however, for Nixon—already invited by the President to chart his own political future—to bow out if Nixon thought it politically advisable.

Eisenhower spoke out vehemently in favor of Nixon—and defied anyone to try driving a wedge between them—at a news conference in which he also:

Backs Up High Court

1. Pleaded for moderation on both sides in the dispute over race integration in Southern schools. He said the country would get to "a very bad spot" if there were any move toward "nullification" of the Supreme Court's antisegregation ruling. Eisenhower said he had no thought of using force but that the Supreme Court had ordered gradual progress and "we are simply going to uphold the Constitution of the United States, see that the progress made as ordered by them is carried out."

2. Pledged this country will do anything "reasonable and practicable" to help solve the Cyprus dispute. But he said "the solution is going to have to be reached by the persons most greatly concerned"—Britain and Greece.

He walked without an umbrella through a heavy rain across the street from the White House to this news conference—which took place, by coincidence, on the 43rd anniversary of the day President Wilson first met under similar circumstances with newsmen and thereby established the news conference tradition.

Plainly Irritated

Eisenhower made no attempt to hide that he was irked by some of the interpretations that have been placed on his recent statements regarding Nixon.

He snapped to alertness when a reporter asked how he interpreted the remarkably large write-in vote for Nixon in Tuesday's New Hampshire primary.

"Apparently," said the President, there are "lots of people in New Hampshire that agree with what I have told you about Dick Nixon.";

"Now, because you opened that question, I am going to say one thing more about it and then, as far as I am concerned, I will never answer another question on this subject until after the Republican National Convention in August.

"Anyone," declared Eisenhower, his eyes narrowing and his voice rising, "who attempts to drive a wedge of any kind between Dick Nixon and me has just as much chance as if he tried to drive it between my brother and me.

"Now, if those words aren't plain, then it is merely because people can't understand the plain unvarnished truth!"

Eisenhower urged Congress to hurry up with legislation to help the farmers.

"The planting season is rushing up on us, and we need the farm bill now," he told reporters. "I couldn't overstate my anxiety for speed in getting a good farm bill for our farmers . . ."

Caesarean Scar Examined

'Grandma' Doing Fine After Litter Of 14 Delivered By Caesarean

"Grandma" is doing fine after giving birth to 14 youngsters by a Caesarean section operation.

Her offspring haven't fared so well, however, as she sat on six of them and killed them while recovering from the anesthetic.

Grandma, incidentally, is a 500-pound sow belonging to Don Crawford who farms south of Cheney, Neb.

When Crawford noticed Grandma was in pain and apparently unable to give birth to her litter he called Dr. G. A. Ackerman of Lincoln's Animal Hospital. Since Grandma had had two litters previously without difficulty Dr. Ackerman asked Crawford to bring her in to be examined.

So Crawford loaded Grandma in a truck and took her to the hospital. Dr. Ackerman found she would be unable to give birth to her litter normally so he performed a one-hour Caesarean section operation. He was assisted by Dr. Edward Ackerman and Dr. Ordella Geisler.

After delivering the 14 pigs the doctor sewer her up with 13 stitches. Crawford then loaded Grandma into the truck and took her home. It took her more than 17 hours to recover from the effects of the anesthetic, and while she was semi-conscious she sat on six of her litter.

Dr. Ackerman says he has delivered cattle, dogs, cats and chinchillas as well as other pigs by Caesarean. He said, however, that Grandma's pig litter is the largest he has delivered.

And there is good news for Grandma. Dr. Ackerman says she should be able to give birth to other litters in normal fashion.

2 Undercover Agents Tab Each Other 'Red'

CHARLOTE, N. C. (AP)—It was something like old home week Wednesday for Charles B. Childs and Odis R. Reavis.

Childs, 24, a crew-cut bespectacled student and lab instructor at the University of North Carolina, told a subcommittee of the House Un-American Acitivities Committee here Monday he knew Reavis as a Communist.

Reavis was, in fact, "in my club at Winston-Salem," the former undercover agent for the FBI testified.

Wednesday the subcommittee called Reavis.

Reavis, 31, soft-spoken, said he knew Childs as a Communist, and had so informed the FBI.

Tabbed Reds

Both had been in party cells in High Point and Winston-Salem. Childs entered the party in 1950. Reavis had joined in Detroit in 1948 and moved back to High Point in 1949. Both reported to the FBI for several years, each tabbing the other as a Red.

Childs sat behind Reavis, grinning hugely through his testimony. After the subcommittee adjourned they chatted at length.

Reavis indicated—but would not confirm after the hearing—that Childs' testimony about him led to his appearance before the probers.

Rep. Kearney (R-NY) asked Reavis, "What was the reaction among your fellow employes when he—Childs—named you?"

'Communist'

"I was nervous," Reavis said, smiling. "One of the guys said, 'Didn't I see your name in the paper?'

"'Don't kid me,' he said. 'You're a Communist.'

"Another one said, 'They ought to shoot all the Communists.'

"I told him I thought so, too," Reavis continued.

"Then he said, 'They ought to shoot you, too.'"

"I thought," Reavis said, "that I'd better find my boss."

Dormitory OKd For Blind School

According to Harold Peterson, business manager of the Board of Control, the board will proceed with construction of a new dormitory at the Nebraska City School for the Blind as soon as possible.

The board is also considering the possible construction of a swimming pool at the institution.

Gained $6.40

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Edward Schweitzer, a grocery store owner, gained $6.40 from an attempted holdup.

Schweitzer said a nervous gunman ran from the store when he yelled for help leaving behind a dollar bill and $5.40 worth of groceries he had paid for.

Mother Learns The Worst From Youth At Door

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Can I use your phone? I just hit a kid," said the young man at the door.

Mrs. Beulah Lewis stared at him speechlessly. She had a hunch.

Mrs. Lewis brushed past the youth and ran out into the street in front of her home in suburban Brook Park.

There, in a ditch along the street was her son, Richard, 12. His mangled bicycle was near his body.

"He was lying in the ditch and the water was running over his face," the mother said. "I lifted his head out of the water, but I knew it was too late."

The driver, a 16-year-old, was not held.

Youths Surprised In Try At Breakin

A police officer surprised two Illinois youths while they were attempting to break into Brad's Cafe at 120 So. 11th Wednesday night.

The two 16-year-olds were apprehended by the officer as they were attempting to pry open the cafe door.

Under police questioning the two youths, both from Skokie, Ill., admitted two other Lincoln breakins — one at Mickey's Cafe at 1725 O and another at Arnold Printing Co. at 1619 O, officers said.

Police said they also admitted stealing an auto at Plano, Ill., and driving to Nebraska. The vehicle was found in Lincoln on 36th between R and S.

Both boys had been staying at a local hotel. They were jailed on open charges.

Slain Girl Found In Car Fire

. . . Coach's Bride Dead

ALVA, Okla. (AP) — The charred body of a 21-year-old Northwestern State College bride, who officers surmise was killed by an unknown assailant, was found in the flaming wreckage of her car on a lonely country road near Alva.

D. R. Reynolds, teacher and athletic coach at nearby Avard High School, identified the body found 10 miles south and 2½ miles west of here, as that of his wife, Mildred Ann Reynolds. He said she drove the lonely country road every day to attend college classes in Alva. He said he last saw his wife when she left home early Tuesday.

Woods County Sheriff Ed Doctor called in State Crime Bureau agents after Highway Patrol troopers declared the death was not a traffic fatality because "all the evidence shows the car burned too fast. That the fire had some help."

Legal Point Stalls Peery Rape Trial

PAPILLION, Neb. (AP)—The District Court rape trial of Wesley Peery, 31, of Lincoln ran into a legal snag Wednesday morning.

Defense Attorney John Doyle of Lincoln moved to dismiss the information against Peery because of what he called improper procedure in binding the accused over to District Court after a preliminary hearing in Sarpy County Court.

District Judge John Dierks then gave County Attorney Dixon Adams the choice of seeking a new preliminary hearing or accepting the court's ruling on Doyle's motion.

Adams decided to take Peery before Justice of the Peace Homer Haworth in Bellevue.

Doyle argued that in binding Peery over, County Judge Joe Strawn's use of words did not constitute sufficient reason to believe a crime had been committed.

Peery is accused of raping a 27-year-old Council Bluffs woman Jan. 21 after forcing her car off the highway in Sarpy County.

The Associated Press 60-stock average advanced $1.50 to a new record of $187.70, with the industrials up $2.90 to a new high of $268.60, the raily up $1.20 to a new high of $143.60 and the utilities down 10 cents to $74.80.

$70 Fine Levied For 75 MPH Chase

A 21-year-old Lincoln man arrested after a 75-mile-an-hour chase that lasted 20 blocks was fined $35 each Wednesday on counts of speeding and reckless driving.

Alvie D. Schriner, 2518 Randolph, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to both charges. The fine was levied by Judge John Jacobson.

The court was told Schriner was clocked by radar at 55 miles an hour and that he later tried to escape a pursuing police cruiser. Police said Schriner's car was clocked in a 35-mile zone.

The radar installation was set up at 13th between Peach and Rose. Officers said Schriner turned off 13th and finally was caught at South and Folsom Sts.

Present Wheat Controls, Loans Predicted For Several Years

New Allotment Plan Backers Explain Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators who helped in approval of the new domestic allotment plan for wheat said Wednesday night it probably will be necessary to continue present controls and loans for several years.

"Until we work off the existing wheat surplus the domestic allotment plan cannot go into full operation," explained Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), chief sponsor of the program approved by the Senate Tuesday.

The domestic allotment plan promises a wheat grower 100 per cent of parity for that part of his crop consumed domestically as food.

Sen. Young (R-ND), another sponsor of the plan, said the government probably must continue to make loans on the balance of the wheat offered at a lower price for livestock feed, export or other uses.

The novel wheat plan was tacked into the omnibus soil bank bill by a 54-39 vote over administration opposition.

It could apply first to the 1957 crop if two thirds of the growers in commercial wheat areas approve it and the Secretary of Agriculture agrees to put it in operation.

The secretary would determine the 100 per cent of parity price level and also the lower level for wheat sold as feed or for export.

Under terms of the bill this lower level must be high enough so that feed wheat does not disrupt the market for corn and other feed grains or upset wheat prices under international agreements or trade relations with friendly nations.

Growers of wheat for domestic food would receive certificates calculated to bring their return up to 100 per cent of parity. Millers and other processors of wheat foods would have to buy these certificates and probably pass the cost along to consumers.

Producers, in order to share in the program, would have to stay within allotments which would be on a basis of bushels rather than the present acreage system.

Carlson estimates that the nation needs about 500 million bushels of food wheat each year or slightly more than half of anticipated production.

Although the program could not operate this year, if it did growers would get from $2.19 to $2.51 a bushel, depending on which partiy formula was used, for their domestic allotment wheat.

The other feed and export wheat would be priced at somewhat above the $1.40 support level for corn.

Inmate's Probation Killed, Year More Added To Term

Max W. Lant, 32-year-old Nebraska Penitentiary inmate from North Platte, has been given an additional year by the Lancaster District Court on a forgery charge.

Lant pleaded guilty to revocation of his two years' probation given in 1947 for forgery of a $600 check on which sentence had been suspended.

In his plea, the defendant admitted violating the terms of his probation on the suspended sentence by failing to report to the probation officer and make restitution.

Lant is currently serving a two-year term given Nov. 26, 1955, for bad checks at North Platte.

Improvements At State Reformatory Listed By Dredla

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. (AP) — Chairman Thomas Dredla of the Nebraska Board of Control told Nebraska City Rotarians that great improvements have been made in the Nebraska Men's Reformatory since the recent appointment of Robert Nichols as superintendent.

Dredla said improvements have been made in the housekeeping at the institution, in the recreation program, the education program and in a training program for guards.

He said an effort has been made to provide work for the inmates; food has been improved and adequate clothing is being issued.

The practice of locking as many as 76 naked men in a jail built for 10 to 15 for long periods at a time has been stopped, he asserted. This was an obvious reference to the tactics used by former Supt. George Morris to quell an uprising at the reformatory during last summer's unsettled period.

40 Get Meals Cooked During Disaster Test

Forty persons received meals cooked in an emergency oven Wednesday and ate from plate cups and forks made from tin cans.

The meal was prepared as part of the Civil Defense plan for mass feeding in case of a disaster. The emergency oven was constructed out of rubble and mud and the women made the necessary eating utensils by cutting up tin cans.

The general plan for the school of instruction is under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Yost of Milford, deputy state director of women's activities for Civil Defense.

"The course was very successful. More people should know how to cook on an emergency basis," Frank Woods, Civil Defense coordinator, said.

Following Wednesday's instruction, the women were organized into teams to conduct a mass feeding demonstration at the State Volunteer Fire Training school in Grand Island April 16. The women will feed 400 to 500 firemen at the demonstration.

And, Why The Hurry?

"Such questions as consolidation of various agencies of the city and county (Lincoln and Lancaster), Barney said, have little bearing on over-all space requirements. It is not too difficult to determine how much space, for instance, will be needed to house the engineering activities, whether combined or not, Barney said."—Extract from the news columns.

★

There is, to say the least, a new, novel and refreshing view of the approach to ultimate construction of a new county-city building. The primary purpose of such a structure, of course, is to provide the joint governments of more than 125,000 people, citizens of Lancaster and of Lincoln, with modern, convenient housing quarters. The buildings which now provide space for city and county governments are over-age, obsolete, overcrowded, and wholly inadequate. But one reason, a powerful reason, why there should be a new city-county building is that with adequate care and study, sufficient economies can be achieved to make a new building a profitable investment.

Mr. Barney may know what he is talking about.

But we have the feeling that unless elimination and consolidation of overlapping departments of county and city governments come about before the building is constructed, chances are there will never be anything done to relieve the taxpayers of unnecessary duplication. It is too easy to find excuses for postponing any action to eliminate additional jail facilities, additional quarters for assessment and tax agencies, additional facilities for other activities unless steps are taken well in advance.

Time For A Slowdown

Charles Mercer of the Associated Press handed the American people some thought-provoking news about themselves.

He revealed that 10 million Americans now suffer from some sort of mental disorder. And he noted that in the past 10 years the population has increased 20 per cent, but the number of hospitalized mental patients has increased by 44 per cent.

According to his figures one of every 16 individuals is a mental case of consequence. That is indeed an impressive condition—a description of a growing disability that has already reached formidable proportions.

America is addressing itself with vigor to the treatment of mental cases, backing it with broad-scale research. It is expanding its facilities for treatment and stressing rehabilitation. Such things, of course, are necessary. But ahead of that is a condition of life that is producing the cases in increasing numbers, and it is in that highly important area that the greatest changes are needed. There is little evidence of progress in ridding the American way of life of the pressures that are popping people off balance. Until something better is brought about there the battle for maximum mental health will not be won.

It is time for a second front, best opened by individual contemplation of the problem with readjustments of the daily pace and pressure, leading to greater tranquility.

A Movement Underway

Leaders in Nebraska's livestock industry will confer again with their counterparts in Iowa at Des Moines late this week. It will open chapter two in the Iowa-Nebraska-originated plan to create a bigger and better market for meat by industry supported sales promotion.

Nebraska with two counties and Iowa with three, volunteering to participate in a pilot check-off plan to test and demonstrate the merits of the program, mean to solicit participation by all the livestock producing states and to that end have issued invitations to all governors for the forthcoming session.

National sales promotion ventures are not small scale affairs. The millions that will be required for this one are anticipated by a voluntary check-off by which the producer will contribute 2½ cents for each marketed sheep, five cents for every hog and ten cents per head of cattle.

There is strong precedent for increased consumption through effective promotion and advertising. And there is precedent in the food field itself where processors and retailers from time immemorial have used facilities with rewarding effect. But it is novel to organize the food producers as a new, massive force in the selling field.

Time will reveal the ultimate merits of the proposal. At the outset the movement proceeds with good hope and this can be said of it: It marks an event of constructive thinking and a movement toward self help by the livestock industry a factor in the movement for recovery that is highly recommended.

Make Mine Lemon

At the rate things are going the cow is on her way to replacing the dog as man's best friend. It is coming about through scientific research.

University of Minnesota dairymen are working on a new angle for immunizing human beings against infectious diseases. Instead of giving shots to the individual, they reasoned why not immunize the cow. Perhaps it will transmit immunization to humans through its milk laboratory. Tests thus far indicate success. Some 20 human guinea pigs are presently drinking immunized milk and being exposed to a number of infections and are not catching the diseases.

The dairymen at the University of Maryland, not to be outdone, are contemplating the cow as a service center for refreshments. They are going in for milk flavors and have some specialized cows that are turning out milk a la strawberry, cherry, grape, coffee and raspberry.

Flavored milk is a novelty, but the use of cows for immunization is a long established practice, though in a limited way. Biological laboratories have long since maintained special herds from which are drawn small pox immunizing agents which in turn are administered to people. It is just that it never seriously occurred before to science that the procedures could be streamlined by eliminating the shots and feeding the milk.

FHA Lends A Hand

Nebraska's Farm Home Administration has announced the availability of approximately one million dollars for special federal, low interest loans to farmers hurt by drought and falling prices. The sum will make about $11,000 available to each county.

The FHA did not estimate the credit need of the state, but whether the million dollars is ample or less than ample is one thing while the principle of tailor-made credit where there is distress is another—undebatably good. Three per cent money, such as the FHA is offering, lent on terms that can accommodate the borrower's critical earning condition stands a more than good chance for repayment and at the same time lifts some of the burden that private credit should not be required to take.

The FHA's million dollars unquestionably will be the factor that will keep some of Nebraska's better farmers on the farm.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Salute to spring: "This brings spring to the Missouri River," commented Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Missouri River division chief of Army Engineers. His final words were lost as the water ran under the open gates, each bigger than the side of a house, and plunged over the spillway into the river with a roar that drowned the sound of construction machinery still at work in the nearby powerhouse."—Extract from a story on Gavin's Point dam.

★

During winter's cold, it was explained, flow of the Big Muddy (the Missouri) is held to about 10,000 cubic feet of water a second. In summer, the river free from ice and called upon to perform its diversified tasks, the flow is increased to about 28,000 second-feet to meet requirements of sanitation, water supplies for communities downstream, and navigation. A slow process, increasing the Missouri's flow, called for gradually, inching up the water rushing downstream to the sea. It took a week to increase the flow of the Big Muddy from 10,000 to 24,000 second-feet. All winter, since the first frigid bite of the gales from out of the north, the waters from the upper Missouri have been piling up against the Gavins Point dam. Another five years will find a mighty chain of fresh water lakes stretching all the way from Gavins Point to the Montana boundary, a distance of 1,500 miles, a chain of fresh water lakes second only to the Great Lakes. And from high in His heavens, we can believe that the great God on high will look down and say that here is work well done—yes, work well done in the fulfillment of a noble vision.

Carlson of neighboring Kansas credit to which he was not entitled. However, in procuring Senate approval of a new wheat price support plan, Sen. Carlson comes in for a pat on the back.

★

This note was in the mail: "I read your editorial Saturday, I believe, relative to the farm bill in Congress. In the editorial, you state: 'Thirty-five Democrats and six Republicans voted against the amendment to retain the flexible price supports. Milt Young of North Dakota, Thye of Minnesota, and even the President's good friend, Sen. Carlson of Kansas, could cross party lines in order to support legislation obviously so vital to the farmers of their states. But not Nebraska's two members of the Senate. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska voted with the majority and in so voting may discover that 1957 is too late for a lot of farm people in Nebraska.' I believe you gave Sen. Carlson more credit than he deserves. If you will check the Topeka Journal of Friday, March 9, 1956, I am sure that you will find that Sen. Carlson did not have the courage of his convictions. Although a short time ago he announced that he intended to support 90 per cent of parity, he finally voted the other way. You will find an article about it on the front page of the Topeka Journal in which Carlson's reasons for his last-minute switch are given." But the farm bill in the Senate was changing shape with a great deal of rapidity. Carlson had come forward with an amendment designed to bring wheat growers a price equal to 100 per cent of parity on wheat used for human food in this country. Wheat going into export, livestock feed, and similar uses would be sold for what the market would bring on the basis of Associated Press reports.

Beg Pardon, Please

The Carlson amendment would not become effective until the 1957 crop and then only if two-thirds of the wheat farmers voted for it in a referendum and the secretary of agriculture agreed to try it. Granted, there are a whale of a lot of "if's"—if anything is to happen. And to this Carlson amendment, Nebraska's two senators, long prostrate at the feet of Secretary Benson, voted with the majority.

Lobby Quiz Head Has Oil Associates

WASHINGTON — Inside fact about the selection of horn-rimmed Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas as chairman of the select Senate committee to investigate the gas-oil lobby is that this was always the secret play which the Republicans and Sen. Lyndon Johnson had up their sleeves.

McClellan even confided to newsmen in advance that the Republicans had offered him the committee chairmanship.

Obviously they would not have done this if they hadn't been sure that "Honest John," who has voted Republican on crucial issues almost as often as he has Democratic, would steer clear of any investigating avenues that led to big GOP oil-gas contributions or that might embarrass pro-gas Democrats.

All you have to do is look over McClellan's background to understand how little the oil-gas lobby needs to be worried over his investigative zeal.

First, McClellan's law firm represents Standard Oil of New Jersey, the Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, Tidewater Associated Oil, and Carter Oil Company, in addition to several railroads, paper and lumber companies. This is taken from the authoritative law directory, Martindale and Hubbell, which also lists McClellan's firm as handling the "general practice of oil and gas titles."

In addition, McClellan is on friendly terms with H. L. Hunt, one of the three or four wealthiest oilmen in the world, who got his start at El Dorado, Ark. McClellan was generously backed by Hunt and the oil interests during his re-election campaign in 1954, and it's not likely that he will want to go into the manner in which gas-oil money has been spent in any senator's election because others might then suggest that he also probe his own contributors too.

McClellan is also heavily obligated to Lyndon Johnson. For during his 1954 primary race against popular ex-Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas, Lyndon got up for McClellan a petition signed by more than 40 other senators telling the people of Arkansas how important McClellan was to the U. S. Senate. This was in violation of the accepted rule that Democratic senators do not become involved in Democratic primaries against other Democrats.

So, as chairman of the select committee it's not likely Senator McClellan will issue any subpoenaes that will disturb either Lyndon Johnson or Sen. Styles Bridges, the New Hampshire Republican who was so anxious to block the probing of Tennessee's Senator Gore. It's much more likely that McClellan will turn toward the probing of labor contributions.

BOB CONSIDINE

Hypnosis Claimed Therapeutic Aid

NEW YORK (INS)—"Reincarnation is for the birds," the good-looking blonde said. "I've regressed hundreds of people in my time. All I can make of it, startling as it sometimes turns out to be, is that these people are subconsciously reliving something they read, heard, saw, dreamed or imagined from the time of their birth."

The blonde came with good credentials. She is Joan Brandon, a professional hypnotist. Our luncheon at Sardi's was arranged by an amateur hypnotist I know, Fawcett Editor Ralph Daigh, who is publishing Miss Brandon's book, "The Art of Hypnotism." It's to be part of a "how to" library. The oddest part, I suggested, uneasily avoiding Miss Brandon's sparkling eyes.

"I'd have been burned as a witch a couple of hundred years ago," she agreed amiably. "But people are losing their fear of hypnotism. I put thousands of people 'out' each year, in such places as auditoriums, theaters, night clubs, private homes, hospitals, maternity wards, doctors conventions and so forth.

☆ ☆ ☆

"As for this Bridey Murphy business, it's interesting but explainable. Her mind accepted and sealed a lot of things her parents, grandparents, and other people spoke of in her presence as a child. Hypnotism opened those long closed vaults. I see it happen every day. It has nothing to do with reincarnation."

Bridey, I mean Joan, is the daughter of "The Great Brandoni," the hypnotist who was the son of Dr. Allen Brandon, who gave up his medical practice to concentrate on the phenomena that had been his hobby.

"I'd have to hypnotize myself to remember when I first began hypnotizing people, it's been so long," she laughed. "I grew up with it. There's never been anything strange about it. A person who doesn't want to be hypnotized can't be. A lot of cheap novels and movies about people doing horrid things under the influence of hypnotism are all pure bunk. They've set back an important science. It's of definite medical value in cases of hypertension, migrane, asthma, alcoholism, oversmoking, dieting and many other problems."

Miss Brandon indicated that many people now come to her seeking cure for a vast variety of ailments. But, she added, she will not lift a finger or wave a wand unless the person's doctor invites her in as a consultant in the matter. Still the people clamor.

Miss Brandon's weight reduction plan consists, she says, of throwing the fat soul under a spell and telling him/her while under it that he/she hates starches but loves carrots. With booze, she tells the bloke the next drink will make him deathly sick. With chain smokers, the approach is (as they stand before her glassy-eyed) "the next one will taste exactly like burning rubber." Then she gives them a pencil to chew on, Miss Brandon said, lighting a cigarette and taking a deep, satisfying drag.

Primaries Just A Formality For GOP

WASHINGTON — Republicans ostensibly regard the presidential preference primaries starting this week as mere formalities so far as they are concerned.

Actually they will examine all the returns with scrupulous care, for these returns afford the only really solid clue to how the voter, safe and secret in his polling booth, feels about the issue of President Eisenhower's health.

Of course, the GOP returns will be a "sweep" for the President. Should the sweep turn out to be something less than sweeping, it can be claimed with some validity that this is due to voter apathy in the face of a sure thing.

Nevertheless, any important falling-off in places where Mr. Eisenhower was so strong four years ago will call for an explanation. The comparative strength of the two parties, as shown in the primaries, would have some meaning.

☆ ☆ ☆

The primaries may indicate that the Eisenhower name is still magic. This would be the best possible news for Vice-President Richard M. Nixon. The doubts about him in his party are not personal; they are misgivings, rather, that he will hurt the ticket in a close election.

That is all a vice president normally means to a national ticket. Nobody votes for a party because he loves and admires the candidate for vice president, except the candidate's own family and friends. But it is widely believed at least that a controversial candidate in the second slot can lose votes for the ticket.

These impressions, which all politicians share, explain why they are so casual about the vice-presidency other than to avoid controversy and achieve some geographical balance. This year the GOP picture is different because of the President's heart condition and Nixon's own personality.

There is not much Nixon can do about the primaries except to urge his supporters in the states concerned to get out a big vote there for the President. The vice-president has been put in an anomalous position by the President's admission that "I have asked him to chart his own course."

There are no existing guideposts to voter reaction to a President who says candidly that it would be "idle to pretend" he enjoys his former excellent health but that he can handle the job another four years and is willing to do so if the country wants him.

The great esteem for him personaly is undisputable; he can win all the popularity contests. The question is how much more than that the voters attach to the presidency.

Within the last few decades, the office has been greatly enhanced. People expect Washington, including the chief executive, to do more than in the past. They have ceased to expect as much from the states, as most governors frankly admit. Congress has increasingly delegated its powers to the executive branch.

In foreign affairs, above all, the presidency has been aggrandized. Most experts attribute this to the nature of the modern world and the Communist challenge. Those who don't agree and want the trend halted rally behind the Bricker amendment, which is back again in new form.

MYSTERY ON THE MOUNTAIN

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

life! Others thought He might be Elias, the ancient prophet, returned to earth.

"But whom do you say that I am?" Jesus asked.

Peter's voice was strangely quiet:

"You are the Christ! The Son of the living God!"

And Jesus answered: "Blessed are you! Flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but My Father in heaven. And I say to you: You are Peter, and upon this rock I will build My church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. And I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven!"

Then, Jesus gave the twelve a new command. Tell no one else, He said, who I am. The time will come when the world will know. Till then, keep it secret.

And as they stared in puzzlement, Jesus spoke of the future. Their faces grew thin with horror.

The day comes, said Jesus, when Jerusalem, the Temple agents and the scribes and Pharisees will arrest Me. And I will be put to death! And on the third day I will rise again.

Peter groaned: "Lord! No! These things shall not happen to You!"

Fire in His eyes, Jesus turned to Peter:

"Go behind Me, Satan!" He said to the man He had just called blessed. "You are a scandal to Me, because you do not understand the things of God, but only the things of men!"

In God's time, Peter and the others would understand. Till then, they must follow as children follow. Step by step He would lead them. The next step was near at hand.

☆ ☆ ☆

Six days later Jesus called Peter, James and John to follow Him on an adventure that would bring them close to heaven. Up the windswept slopes of Mount Tabor He led them almost to the top. Without a word Jesus knelt on the stubble to pray. The others knelt beside Him. The only sound was the wind . . . .

Suddenly the three apostles realized something extraordinary was happening! Some new power had come over their Master. Jesus' robe daily stained by dust, now shone as if woven of stuff softer and more radiant than snow, whiter than a cloud beside the sun.

Suddenly from the heavens came two men shining like stars, talking with Jesus. One was Moses, the other Elias, famous prophet of the Old Testament, the living talking with the dead. It was too much for the apostles, this meeting of heaven and earth! They were overcome . . . .

They never knew how long they slept. Only that as they awoke, light shone around their beloved Jesus. Moses and Elias were vanishing, walking into another world.

Instantly a bright cloud blotted out the sun and a Voice said: "This is My beloved Son in whom I am well pleased. Hear Him!"

At the voice of God, the three apostles fell on their faces in fear. Then Jesus said, "Arise. Do not be afraid."

As they went down the mountain, Jesus said:

"Tell no man what you have seen till the Son of Man shall be risen from the dead.".

Peter, James and John had seen Him transfigured in the glory of Godhood, seen Him speak with Moses and Elias. They knew He commanded every power of heaven.

Yet now He walked beside them in his dusty robe, truly a Man, their teacher, Master — and friend.

He was a Man. And He was God. That alone was almost too much to understand.

Promises And Promises

Seward, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Thanks for the fine editorial on Ike's promises to the farmer. The Nov. 4, 1952, issue of Look Magazine compares the two candidates, Eisenhower and Stevenson, and where they stood on various issues. Under farm policy there is this:

Ike: "Without any if's or but's, I stand behind the price support laws now on the books. These price supports are only fair to the farmer, to underwrite the exceptional risk he is now taking. They are a moral and legal commitment which must be upheld. Our goal will be sound farmer-run programs that safeguard agriculture—but do not regiment you, do not put the federal government in charge of your farms. I believe that agriculture is entitled to a fair, full share of the national income, and a fair share is not merely 90 per cent of parity—it is full parity."

Now, the April 8, 1952, issue of Look tells us that Ike made a mysterious trip to Washington in the fall of 1951 largely to prod the United States into shipping the tanks, planes and guns it had promised to SHAPE but had not delivered.

Apparently Mr. Eisenhower likes to have promises to him kept, for at that time he was head of SHAPE.

FARMER

☆ ☆ ☆

Like Grandpa Did

Broken Bow, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The farmer has taken another beating. Mr. Eisenhower is delighted and the Republicans, including Curtis and Hruska, are jubilant. That, my dear Nebraska friends, is the kind of sympathy you voted for in 1952.

Consider the millions Nebraska has lost at the hands of the Republicans since 1953—the offshore oil deal, the Republican tax bill, the farm price slice with no honest attempts to stop it, and now the defeat of a fair price guarantee to the farmer even after Eisenhower so blatantly promised that very thing in 1952.

How much more will it take to convince the voters of this state that they don't have to vote Republican just because their pa and their grandpa did? It's time they did some thinking for themselves.

Business And Government

Beaver City, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I would like to comment on the letter from C. R. Herrick. I don't know what folks are griping about, because they got what they voted for—and that was Ike and his boys.

I think the Democratic party knows more about who to run than the people. Kefauver will hurt the party. That is what happened before. The ones who did not get him voted for Ike and his boys. It is now like it was in the late twenties and early thirties. Wall Street and Big Business are running our government. I wonder how the people like that. Here in Nebraska we have all Republican representatives — Curtis, Hruska, Miller and the others — and they vote right along with Ike and Benson and their boys. They are not for the people. They voted against our agriculture, against 90 per cent of parity, against our dairy products and against our poultry and eggs.

Think it over, but I am afraid it is too late. Do the people still think it is time for a change?

H. W. TAYLOR

The Promises

Upland, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Let us examine our peace ledger, and prove by Ike's own statements that boasted-of accomplishments have all been blunders that have weakened us on every deal and allowed Russia to spread all over the landscape.

We are threatened on many fronts, and the public in mass judgment is following a false prophet with a magic wand.

Ike stated that if we were releasing the 150,000 Korean soldiers to fight us somewhere else, it would be a costly mistake (election promise No. 1). Then the Indochina give-away was a very costly and humiliating blunder, of which Ike said it was the best deal Russia would accept.

Ike promised the public that with his magic wand he could stop the war, balance the budget, lower the taxes (for the rich)—then he also promised the oil magnates the offshore oil, and the grain exporters plenty of cheap Canadian hog feed to mix with our good wheat, and pay them a large subsidy on it and immunity from prosecution, thus increasing our surplus to force a larger crop reduction and lower prices.

The GOP system has always been to lower the price until the farmer could not afford to produce, apparently a system to liquidate 20 per cent of the low income group or beginners.

Now Ike states that Russia is broadening and increasing its efforts on the cold war and serious trouble is threatened in several places—a natural culmination to a peace-at-any-price policy.

POCKETS AND PURSES

Man laughs about a woman's purse,
But trouser pockets, vest and coat,
I'd say, are crowded even worse
Than bags the lovely ladies tote.
I'm penning here a partial list
Of things man always bears about:
Old keys which never would be missed
If he took time to throw them out.
A pencil and a fountain pen,
A sheriff's badge no cop regards,
And what important seems to men—
A bunch of hotel credit cards.

A dozen letters in a fold,
A clip to hold his dollar bills,
And if he thinks he's getting old
A box or bottle full of pills.

No woman's purse has room enough,
Or was one ever built so stout
That it could carry all the stuff
Which men, in pockets, lug about?

More Gavins Point Gates Opened

GAVINS POINT, S. D. (AP)—A new surge of water is flowing down the Missouri River as four more flood gates were opened at Gavins Point Dam to meet the timetable for Spring.

While television cameras filmed the scene the flow of water from the big dam was increased as part of a calculated program to insure adequate navigation flows for the Missouri River navigation clear down to its mouth by March 26.

A number of officials from the Omaha offices of the Corps of Engineers including Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, division engineer; and Col. R. D. Brown, executive officer of the Omaha district, were on hand for the event.

Randall Up, Too

While Gavins Point releases of water were stepped up Fort Randall releases also were being increased to back up the Gavins Point flows. Later in the month the Gavins Point Reservoir is to be lowered by about 15 feet to permit construction of boat ramps and a boat basin in the Gavins Point Reservoir.

During the last part of February the Gavins Point flows were raised from 8,000 cubic feet per second to 11,000 cubic feet per second. Then four more flood gates were opened to boost the flows still more and Tuesday another four gates were opened, bringing closer to the 28,000 cubic feet per second rate.

The full rate of flow was expected to be reached Wednesday.

OMAHA (AP)—Ice is frozen solid on the Missouri River all the way from Blair to Sioux City, Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Missouri River Division Engineer, reported Wednesday.

Gen. Potter made an inspection flight up the river to inspect ice conditions and reported that there will have to be more warm weather before there is any material change.

Rep. Miller Will Seek Re-Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) announced Wednesday his candidacy for re-election.

He is the ranking Republican on the House Interior Committee. Miller would become chairman of this committee if his party gains control of the House in the November elections.

5-Foot Ape Scampers Over N.Y. Buildings And Eludes Posse In Wild Chase

By ARTHUR W. EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — The gentle art of boozing received a shocking setback Wednesday in a Lower East Side ginmill. A 90-pound chimpanzee came in the front door, strode the length of the bar without pause for libation and went out the back door.

Behind him the ape left practicing artists ashen of face and tottering like stricken oaks before the woodsman's ax.

It was one of many calls the chimp paid throughout hours of pandemonium after he escaped the apartment of Frank Quinn, a night club entertainer.

The chimp scaled up and down buildings, swung from television aerials, scampered from one fire escape to another and chinned himself on ledges high in the air.

Too Big

Quinn had ordered the chimp from the Royal Oak, Mich., zoo, intending to use it in his act. When it arrived, Quinn found it too big and planned to return it.

The 5-foot beast escaped its cage Tuesday night, but it was amiable enough so Quinn gave it the run of his fourth-floor apartment on E. 6th St.

Wednesday, when he sought to recage the chimp, it jumped through a window, taking glass and all with it. The animal broke its fall by grabbing a clothesline on the way down.

Up an airshaft scrambled the chimp and into the third floor apartment of Ellis Leipson, a nightworker.

Re-arranged

Leipson was asleep—but not for long. The chimp pulled down curtains, damaged a mirror and rearranged some furniture.

By this time police had been summoned.

In a hallway, the chimp playfully sank its teeth into an ASPCA agent, George Zenkewish. Then the beast scampered to the roof.

The chimp proceeded up and down tenements in human fly fashion before he paid his disturbing visit to the East Side Tavern.

From the tavern, the chimp scaled more buildings. Several times he paused momentarily to accept offers of fruit with which would-be captors baited him. But always he eluded them with an easy grace.

Cornered

Four hours after the chase began the chimp was cornered atop the elevator shaft of a 10-story commercial building on E. 7th St.

There the human posse settled down to wait the chimp out. Earlier, he had accepted an orange stuffed with sleeping pills. His pursuers hoped he would eventually doze off so he could be approached.

However, long after dark, sleep still eluded the wayward chimp. Once he appeared to be nodding. But he perked up shortly, and looked wide-awake as ever.

In Royal Oak, Mich., the zoo director, Frank G. McIness, called the ape "the most docile we ever had in our show."

He explained that the 5-year-old chimp, named Mike, entertained children at the zoo and was considered the tamest of his fellows.

Council Repeals Annexation Move

OMAHA (AP) — The City Council by a 6-1 vote repealed the annexation of three tracts northwest and west of the present city limits.

The move paves the way for introduction of new annexation ordinances which would eliminate agricultural land from the parcels.

Protestors against the original annexation ordinance had obtained a District Court order restraining the city from enforcing the ordinance on the grounds that part of the area is farm land.

Lincolnites Gang Up On Loup's High Line Route At Hearing

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Whether a 115,000 volt electric transmission line will be built by Loup River Public Power District around Lincoln's south and east limits or required to move further from the city was the subject of a Railway Commission hearing Wednesday.

The district contended that from engineering studies the location proposed in the application was the most feasible. Loup complained that owners of nearby land are not proper protestants.

A battery of Lincoln lawyers opposed granting of the application at the proposed site and urged that the high line be built further from the city. They contended that the proposed line would hinder further expansion of the city to the east and south.

William Aitken asserted that the proposal will cause "irreparable damage" to the entire population of the city. He said homes are now built a few feet from the city limits and that what he called the proposed "barriers" would "prevent normal expansion."

Alternate Routes

Attorney John W. Stewart urged that for the "protection of the public" the district should "explore alternate routes that have been suggested."

City Attorney Jack Pace said he spoke for all the protestants when he said the power was needed but that "rights of citizens" must be protected.

Paul Hampton of Columbus, chief engineer of the district, said the proposed route was the "most feasible." Wherever the line is built, he said, it must "cross some land."

Attorney Richard Smith obtained a Loup admission that portions of the line would be within the city limits and all of it would be within a three mile zone.

Russell Mattson questioned the engineer in regard to a city ordinance that prohibits more than 35,000 volt lines within three miles of the city. The Loup employe said he had never read the law. He said that Consumers and the city agreed on the location of the substations but not the line.

E. A. Schmid, commission engineer, said the proposal meets minimum requirements and the federal safety code, but added that many alternate routes were possible.

Six Points

Smith, joined by other attorneys, sought to have the application dismissed because

(1) Loup has no authority from the city;

(2) the impact on private citizens;

(3) the notice was null and void;

(4) the applicant gave insufficient evidence;

(5) Loup has purchased no right-of-way;

(6) objection to testimony because it pertained entirely to utilities—not people.

The commission withheld decision on the motioned and will meet again Thursday to hear further testimony.

Robert W. Frudegar of KLIN radio station told how the proposed line could adversely affect radio reception. He said it could even interfere with the civilian defense "Conalrad" warning of disasters.

John T. Morrow, a property owner in the area, told of being offered $1,000 an acre for land for home development. Building of the line, he said, would reduce the land to only agricultural purposes worth $200 to $250 an acre.

Moral And Legal

Ellsworth DuTeau told a similar story of land in which he is interested and the development of home sites near 70th and Van Dorn streets. "There is a moral and legal obligation to the citizens involved here," he said.

It was indicated that a number of legal questions, including the powers of the city and commission, would be raised at the session Thursday.

The Case Where One Head Is Better Than Three

You've probably heard about the proposed merger of Nebraska Public Power System, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District. These units, working together, are the producers of virtually all the electricity used in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska, exclusive of the Omaha area.

What does this merger mean to you, the electricity user?

1. More possible savings in your electrical bills. (You now pay less for electricity than the average homeowner in any neighboring state.)

2. An increasing amount of electricity, made possible by fast and low-cost expansion of the State's power supply. (Electricity demand in Nebraska is expected to double by 1960.)

This merger of Nebraska's power-producing agencies is needed. It's a case where one consolidated district with one management team and one board of directors is better than three separate power entities — no matter how closely those three work together.

The proposed merger:

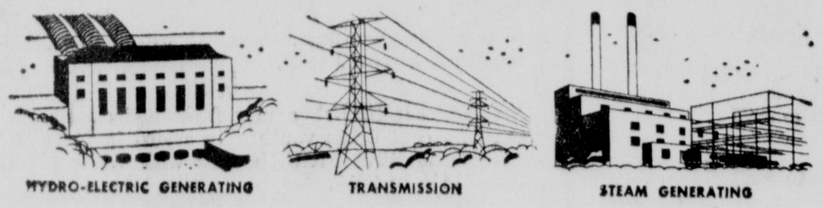

- will streamline operations, resulting in cost savings
- is favored by bankers and investment people who believe that consolidation can bring lower interest rates on money needed for power expansion
- will give all people in the area served a bigger voice in power matters. (Directors would be elected from the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska, exclusive of the area served by the Omaha Public Power District.)
- will safeguard public power benefits, including irrigation benefits, for all people of the State.

Your power producers have served you well in the past. Now your support for the future in this self-improvement merger is essential. We realize State power problems are complicated, so we urge you to ask questions, because . . .

Scientific Clue May Help To Solve Mystery Death Of 3 Chicago Boys

CHICAGO (AP) — Police Wednesday revealed a promising scientific clue which they hope will crack the mysterious strangulation of three Chicago boys.

A chemical analysis of scrapings from the boys' fingernails and feet indicates they were slain or held prisoner in a fairly large machine shop or factory.

This shop or factory handles a special kind of stainless steel used in jet airplane engines or for other high temperature uses.

Chief of Detectives Patrick Deeley considered the clue so important he called a news conference to announce details.

Police have run through more than 2,000 clues in their search for the slayer or slayers of John Schuessler, 13; his brother, Anton, 11, and Robert Peterson, 14. Their nude bodies were found Oct. 18 in Robinson Woods, a forest preserve just beyond Chicago's northwest city limits.

The latest clue resulted from painstaking chemical analysis conducted by scientists at the Standard Oil Co. Indiana and Armour Research Foundation.

Scrapings taken from beneath the boys' fingernails showed traces of austenitic stainless steel — a steel of high heat resistant quality which is relatively rare and costly.

Scrapings from the boys' feet showed the present of dolomite, gypsum, alpha quartz and possibly lead oxide.

The dolomite also is a promising lead, investigators said. It is used in some undercoatings for automobiles. The other chemicals are present in materials associated with construction areas.

Police said that finding the factory or machine ship where the boys were present would be the most important step yet developed in the case.

Police theorized that the bodies may have been transported to Robinson Woods in a truck which services both construction sites and a manufacturing plant using the high temperature steel.

U.S. Good Points Should Dominate Talk, Club Hears

"People are talking too much about what's wrong with America. There should be more emphasis on what's right, because there are more things right with America than any other nation in the world," Miss Betty Roadman told members of the Lincoln Dinner Club Wednesday night.

Miss Roadman, a Hollywood motion picture and television character actress, discussed her experiences as an entertainer of American occupation troops in the Pacific islands.

"I saw a great democracy in action there," she stated. She said she saw evidence of America's humanitarianism and basic feeling of brotherhood.

"In spite of our racial disgraces, this country is a great brotherhood," she said.

Carl Ganz, who presided at the dinner at the Cornhusker, presented the new officers of the club. The officers, who were selected by the board of directors, were Jack Stewart, president; William T. Albrecht, vice president; and George Lemon, secretary-treasurer. Lemon was re-appointed.

JAMES L. ROSE

Rose President Of Young Demos

James L. Rose of 2590 Woodsdale was elected president of the Lancaster County Young Democrats organization Wednesday night.

Rose, 25, is a life insurance salesman. Mrs. Juanita L. Henderson was elected vice president, Wayne J. Thompson Jr. secretary and Lane F. Birkel treasurer. Mrs. Henderson and Thompson are both from Lincoln and Birkel, a University of Nebraska student, is from David City.

Lucigrace Switzer of Lincoln was named chairman of the club's membership committee. The organization was reorganized in February. Next meeting is March 28.

Mrs. Nellie White Funeral Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Nellie White, 84, of 445 So. 29th will be 10 a.m. Saturday at Roper and Sons.

The Rev. S. B. Thomas and the Rev. Lloyd Watts will officiate. Further funeral services will be held 2:30 p.m. Saturday at York Methodist Church, with burial at Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. White, who died Wednesday, had been a resident of Lincoln 35 years. She was a native of Big Rock, Ia., and a member of the Methodist Church.

Surviving are one son, Elven S. White of Lincoln; brothers, Stanley Lytle of Missoula, Mont., and Charles Lytle of Polk; sister, Mrs. Kathryn Dayton of York; grandsons, James White of Lincoln and Richard White, with the army in Germany, and one great grandson.

LARKIN WON'T RUN

OMAHA (AP) — State Sen. John (Jack) Larkin said Wednesday he will not seek re-election. He said "health and welfare" of his family is the reason for his decision. Larkin has served four terms.

UP Freight Derails; Main Line Closed

OMAHA (AP)—Twenty-two cars of a 77-car eastbound Union Pacific fruit train were derailed Wednesday just west of Megeath, tying up main line traffic, the railroad headquarters said.

Megeath is in western Nebraska about 60 miles west of North Platte.

No injuries were reported.

The railroad said the derailment started at the 30th car back of the head of the train. The derailed cars were principally fruit cars. There were three cars of lumber among the derailed cars.

A railroad official said a broken journal on the 33rd car caused the derailment, which obstructed both main line tracks of the Union Pacific.

The railroad said it was hoped to open the westbound track by 2 a.m. (central time).

Meanwhile eastbound trains were expected to be held up either at Cheyenne or Megeath, delaying their arrival into Omaha. Two sections of the westbound mail train were being detoured over a single track line from North Platte to Gering and then to Cheyenne to connect with the main line.

Uncontested Race For Mayor Looms As 3-Way Battle

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — What at first appeared to be an uncontested race for mayor by Joseph C. Reavis suddenly turned into a three-man proposition.

The local attorney recently was nominated by the Citizens party. The People's party caucus broke up without nominating anyone.

However, petitions were filed Monday and Tuesday for Ray Novak and Pingree C. Hughes. Each petition had over the required 200 signatures. Both are being checked for their legality by City Clerk Russell Pollard and City Attorney Homer G. Wiltse.

Partial slates of candidates were filed with the petitions for Novak and Hughes.

Court Holds $143 In Unclaimed Fees

The Lancaster County Court has piled up $143.30 in unclaimed witness fees over an eight-year period from Feb. 5, 1946 to Nov. 23, 1954.

Under statutory provisions, Judge Herbert A. Ronin is asking the county commissioners to publish notice of possible claimants.

Following legal notice, the commissioners may authorize payment of the still unclaimed witness fees into the school fund.

The fees were earned in connection with estate, guardianship or criminal hearings.

Ike Makes Strong Plea For Integration Issue Moderation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower made a fervent plea Wednesday for moderation on both sides in the dispute over school integration.

He asserted at the same time that the "good sense" of the American people will see to it that "progress" is carried out. And he noted that the Southern members of Congress who issued a prosegregation manifesto earlier this week specified that "legal means" will be used to fight the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation.

"No one in any responsible position anywhere," Eisenhower told a news conference, "has talked nullification . . . There would be a place where we get to a very bad spot for the simple reason I am sworn to defend and uphold the Constitution of the United States and, of course, I can never abandon or refuse to carry out my own duty."

'Nullification'

"Nullification" was the doctrine whereby some Southern leaders before the Civil War sought to impede the enforcement of certain federal laws within their territory.

In the current controversy, "interposition" resolutions have been brought forth in the South. They challenge the Supreme Court's authority to rule in a field which the states regard as reserved to themselves.

In the Senate, Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) blasted the Southern manifesto as "shameful" and declared it "may not be outright sedition but it is subversive in its intent to undermine the integrity of the judcial system of this nation."

Only a few senators were on the floor when McNamara spoke. None were among the 19 Southern senators who signed the document pledging themselves to work by all means to overturn the Supreme Court ruling.

Neuberger Wants Action

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) also took the floor and declared Eisenhower should take steps "at once, before incalculable harm is done," to solve segregation and other civil rights problems.

Americans for Democratic Action, meanwhile, asserted that by inaction Eisenhower "has allowed civil disorder in parts of the South to approach a level of conflict unknown in America since the Civil War."

In a letter to the President, ADA Chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr., urged a five-point program including a White House conference of governors at which the chief executive would make clear the federal government "will use its powers to protect its citizens if the states will not or cannot."

Rauh also proposed a White House meeting of Negro and white Southern leaders "to try to rebuild the bridges of communication" between them.

Eisenhower was asked at Tuesday's news conference for his opinion of a Negro-white conference somewhat along the lines of the ADA proposal—which has been put forward, in one form or another, by various groups.

Asks Bipartisan Study

He replied he'd like to see Congress "as quickly as possible" set up a bipartisan commission to study the whole question—as proposed in his State of the Union message last January.

The President said such a body should have power to subpoena witnesses. He said that just calling a meeting at which anyone who wanted to would merely air his views was not the proper way of going about it.

Eisenhower spoke out with obvious feeling on the segregation problem when asked to comment on 1, the anti-integration manifesto and 2, possible moves by Southerners in Congress to block confirmation of judges who might be prointegration.

Right Clear

Taking the second point first, Eisenhower said the Senate's constitutional right to pass on nominations by the president is clear.

"I could urge publicly," he added,"and I probably would if I thought there were unnecessary blocks, but that is their business and that doesn't call, as I see it, for any further comment."

As for the integration dispute generally, Eisenhower said already there has been "some progress" toward intermingling of white and Negro pupils. And he said the Supreme Court itself has warned against "emotionalism" and taken the position that "progress must be gradual."

Eisenhower said that people "with deep emotional reaction" against integration had been "acting in compliance with the law as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States" since 1896. This was a reference to past Supreme Court decisions sanctioning "separate but equal" schools for Negroes and whites.

"Now," he said, "that has been completely reversed, and it is going to take time for them to adjust their thinking and their progress to that."

Eisenhower declined comment on a proposal by a group of House Democrats that he declare he will not allocate any federal funds to a school district refusing to comply with the antisegregation decree.

Trio's Guns Catch Four In Breakin

Ft. Calhoun Cop, Brothers Foil Try

FORT CALHOUN, Neb. (AP) — A pair of Fort Calhoun brothers and the town's night marshal Wednesday captured four Omahans following a breakin at the Longhorn Bar.

Sebastian (Subby) Lombardo had returned to his apartment over the bar about 2:30 a.m. when he heard glass-smashing in the establishment below.

He called his brother Jim and Night Marshal C. L. Doty, then grabbed his 12-gauge shotgun and took up a post outside.

The policeman covered the back door and Subby Lombardo the front. When one of two men inside pointed a pistol at him, Jim Lombardo fired his .30 caliber Army carbine through the window. Then Subby let go with his shotgun through the door.

Tear Gas Threat

The marshal blocked an escape try through the back door and the pair inside fled to the basement where they gave up under the threat of tear gas.

Meanwhile Jim spotted a car take off from a lot in the rear. He sprinted to his own auto and followed catching and curbing the fleeing car.

Sheriff Ray Fick, who had joined in bottling up the men in the building identified the pair taken in the bar as Willard John Vogel, 22, who has a reformatory record for burglary, and Bruce Allen Ryan 15.

He said the two in the car were Edward L. Mangel, 16, and Dennis E. Briggs, 17.

The sheriff said charges would be filed later in the day.

4 NU Moot Court Teams Move Ahead

Four Moot Court teams will compete in semi-final rounds next fall after three teams scored victories in quarter-final competition at the University of Nebraska College of Law this week.

The winners were Donn C. Raymond and Jerome R. Barton, both of Gering; Marshall Becker and Norman Krivosha, both of Omaha, and Willard D. Loresnen and Domenico Caporale, both of Lincoln

These three teams and James Phillips and William Ross, both of Lincoln, who drew a bye, will advance to the semi-finals.

Raymond and Barton defeated Gene Spence and Floyd Sterns, both of Lincoln. The case concerned conflicts of laws and family law. Lincoln attorneys serving as judges were Robert A. Barlow Jr., Roger V. Dickeson and John Wenstrand.

Becker and Krivosha defeated Norman Vietzer of Omaha. The case involved corporation law. Judges were Edward F. Carter Jr., John Gradwohl and Richard Harnsberger.

Lorensen and Caporale defeated James Knapp of Lincoln and Bruce Barton of Ft. Logan, Colo. The case tested the constitutionality of a typical off-street parking act. Judges were Warren K. Dalton, Julian Hopkins and Jerry Vitamvas.

Solons Semi-Speechless Studying Scientist's 'Simple' Satellite Statistics

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists who will send man-made moons whizzing around the earth at 18,000 miles an hour have told Congress:

That plans now call for 12 of the satellites, each 20 to 30 inches in diameter. Some may fizzle before they take off, and certainly they all won't be circling the earth at once.

That at least one expert, Joseph Kaplan, looks on the international rocket program "as perhaps the greatest new scientific effort we have had since the invention of the telescope."

Check Globe's 'Spart Tire'

That the earth, like a congressman, tends to bulge about the middle. The satellites, filled with delicate instruments that will send back data by radio, will give clues on how big that bulge is, as well as supply information on atmospheric mysteries as high as 800 miles up.

The scientists gave their views last week to a House Appropriations subcommittee that will have to pass on the $19,262,000 the project will cost. Their testimony was made public Wednesday.

Congressmen often like to argue with witnesses, but they seemed remarkable docile with the scientists around.

For example, Dr. Richard W. Porter, who is chairman of satellite technical panel, was explaining now you'd probably need binoculars to see the thing.

"I think," Porter said, "the chance of a person seeing it with his naked eye is not very great."

"If you do not mind my using little equation," Porter said, and he stepped to a blackboard to write a formula that went something like this:

m times v squared over r is equal to m times g times R squared over r squared.

Bipartisan Silence

The silence that greeted this equation was bipartisan.

The plans now call for launching the satellites during the International Geophysical Year that begins July 1, 1957.

Have there been complaints from countries it will fly over?

Quite the contrary, Porter said. He said he had been to an international meeting in Germany, and "the only complaint I heard was from those countries over which it did not go, because they wanted to have a look at the thing."

Well, the talk drifted along, and finally Rep. John Phillips (R-Calif) asked:

"What happens when it falls down?"

Porter explained how it would race madly around the world for weeks, maybe months, but as it comes down into a thicker atmosphere the friction will burn it "into minute ashes long before it reaches the earth."

On the other hand, Porter said: "If we didn't have any atmosphere up there, once established it would go on forever. It continues to circle in a path of this sort, just like the moon."

"The moon," Porter reminded Congress, "has been up there a good many years, and it hasn't fallen down yet."

Inter-Agency Meet Planned

OMAHA (AP) — Problems of the Grand River Basin in Iowa and Missouri will be discussed at the 86th meeting of the Missouri Basin Inter-Agency Committee (MBIAC) to be held in Chillicothe, Mo., March 29.

The agenda of the meeting includes discussions of flood control, watershed protection and ground water, Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Missouri River Division Engineer and chairman of the committee, announced.

The MBIAC is made up of representatives of federal agencies involved in the overall Missouri River Basin Development plan and of governors of the Missouri basin states.

State January Retail Sales Drop Over 8%

Nebraska retail sales in January dropped 8 per cent under a year ago and slightly more than a 3 per cent dip under December.

This was the report of Business in Nebraska, a bulletin prepared by the University of Nebraska's department of business research.

The bulletin said: "The decrease was quite general over most cities and counties, and most types of business represented. Automobile dealers, who have been the mainstay of better sales through 1955, were down also, only Lincoln and Omaha showing improvement in this line."

Of all types of business, only drug stores showed an advance, 2.9 per cent, over January of last year.

However, in unadjusted city index Nebraska cities showed an 8 per cent increase over a year ago. Used in computing this index are these business indicators: Bank debits, building activity, retail sales, electricity and gas consumed, water pumped, postal receipts, and newspaper advertising.

Cities showing gains in the city index were: Holdrege, 14.9; McCook, 11.4; Broken Bow, 10.6; Hastings, 9.5; North Platte, 9.0; Kearney, 8.3; Omaha, 7.6; Lincoln, 7.2; Grand Island, 6.7; Columbus, 6.4; Norfolk, 5.8; Beatirce, 2.6; Alliance, 2.2; Fremont, 1.7; and Scottsbluff, 1.4.

Only two cities showed decreases, Chadron, down 1.1, and Nebraska City, down 2.9.

January retail sales, adjusted for seasonal changes, follow:

Plans For State Temperance Fund Drive Discussed

Plans for a state-wide fund raising drive were discussed at the quarterly meeting of the Temperance League of Nebraska.

Dr. John F. Norman, League executive director, said no definite plans for the drive have been made other than it would reach into each county in the state. The drive will be further discussed at the League's next meeting April 23, Dr. Norman said.

Dr. Norman has mapped a series of lectures on temperance at Nebraska high schools. His itinerary from March 16 to April 20 includes:

Walton, Eagle, Waverly, Ashland, Ceresco, Waterloo, Wahoo, Yutan, Sprague, Martell, Crete, Dorchester, Friend, Palmyra.

Syracuse, Dunbar, Nebraska City, Roca, Clatonia, Panama, Douglas, Exeter, Fairmont, Sutton.

Elmwood, Bertrand, Loomis, Holdrege, Elmwood, Avoca, Weeping Water, Nehawka.

Those MAD, MAD, MAD Hats

Only the hats were mad when the members of the Officers Wives Club had their "Mad Hatters" luncheon on Wednesday at the Officers Club on the Lincoln Air Force Base. Everyone had a good time at the party and the hilarious head gear worn by members of the group afforded gleeful entertainment.

The three prize-winning numbers went from the ridiculous to the sublime — from lavender and old lace to space patrols.

Taking honors as the "most original" was "A Child's Dream" —a hat in the form of a candy cottage, worn by Mrs. Donald Hesse.

The prettiest hat prize went to Mrs. Robert Haston whose creation was a doll with a bouffant gown of lavender and old lace.

Mrs. Dale Samuelson received the award for the funniest hat entitled "Space Patrol." It was fashioned of small planes rotating around a pylon to the accompaniment of a buzzing motor and flashing lights which were powered by a motor. Mrs. Samuelson carried in her handbag—

And we can't help but wonder if Mrs. Samuelson had a headache by late afternoon.

The News Around Town

BETWEEN social events for the coaches, parties for the coaches wives, and more parties for the coaches AND their wives, the football coaches bid fair to be completely exhausted before gridiron time rolls around next fall——

Next Saturday evening, for instance, the new members of Nebraska's football coaching staff, and their wives, will be the honored guests at a buffet supper for which Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Harrington will be host and hostess at their home. Twenty-three guests have been invited.

* * *

AND on Friday afternoon the wives of two members of the coaching staff—Mrs. Dee Andros and Mrs. William Jennings, both members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, will be complimented when the active chapter of Gamma Phi Beta on the Nebraska campus entertains at a tea between the hours of 3:30 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock at the chapter house. In addition to alumnae of the sorority, the guest list will include members of the faculty and the University's administration staff.

* * *

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilnes will have a house guest this week-end—Mrs. Carl Schmidt of Sidney who will come to Lincoln to attend the Delta Gamma banquet on Saturday evening.

* * *

AND someone just told us that Miss Ann Desmond will be arriving on March 27 from Denver, where she is attending Loretto Heights College, to spend the Easter holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Desmond.

* * *

MENTION of Easter reminds us that Miss Marolyn Hicks plans to spend a portion of her Easter vacation in Silver Springs, Md., where she will be the guest of her fiance, Lloyd Reed, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Reed.

* * *

A communique from Houston, Tex. announces a new member of the crib set — She arrived on Monday, March 12, and is the daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Murray Backhaus. Glamor—Small Size

An exceedingly popular guest as far as her host and hostess are concerned, is small Anne Elizabeth Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chambers of Homewood, Ill., who is the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Chambers.

We're guessing that our miniature glamour girl found her cuddle toys waiting for her upon her arrival, and we also surmise that her two week stay in Lincoln will be no hardship for the young lady in spite of the fact she is just two years old.

Lushton Couple Die; York Man Badly Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Lincoln Star Special

YORK, Neb. — An elderly Lushton, Neb., couple was killed and a York man critically injured in a two-car collision Wednesday southwest of York on a county road.

Sheriff Lewis Ekart identified the dead as Albert George, 77, and his wife Martha, 78. In critical condition at a York hospital is Alvah Hecht, 62.

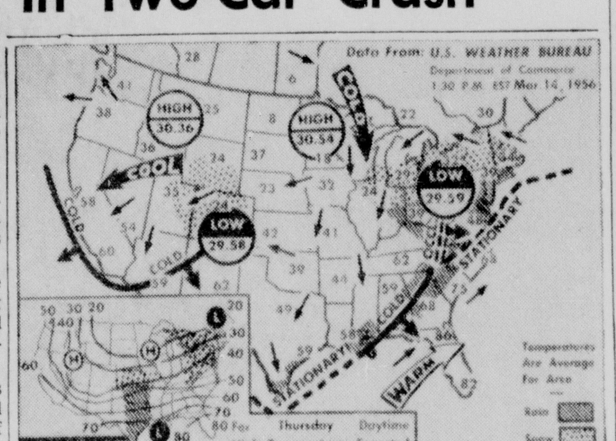

An attending physician said late Wednesday Hecht was "holding his own." His injuries included multiple fractures and brain concussion.

Sheriff Ekhart said the Georges were going north on a county road four miles south and two west of York when their car was in collision with the car driven by Hecht, who was driving west. The accident occurred about noon.

Mr. George, who was born in Hamilton County, was a retired well driller. His wife was born in Ohio. They had no children, and authorities were trying to contact relatives of Mrs. George at Red Oak, Iowa.

Hecht, a former York County Agent, is employed by an irrigation firm at nearby Henderson, Neb.

The deaths brought Nebraska's 1956 death toll to 62, compared with 61 at this time last year. York County had not had a traffic death since December, 1954.

But when she was visited by her daughter, Mrs. Roger Gutzmer of Fairbury, the mystery was quickly unraveled and the women returned the billfold.

U.S. District Judgeship Choice Delayed By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sens. Hruska and Curtis, Nebraska Republicans, said Wednesday they will delay another week or so a decision on their choice for a federal district judgeship in Nebraska.

The senators plan to go to Lincoln next Saturday for Republican Founders' Day ceremonies. They said in a statement they won't determine until after they return whom they will recommend for the appointment, to be made by President Eisenhower.

A vacancy exists because of the death some weeks ago of Judge James A. Donohoe.

The senators said they have received a "large volume of recommendations in behalf of many excellent lawyers and judges."

Hebron Oil Firm Loot Is $5,466

Lincoln Star Special

HEBRON, Neb. — Investigation continued Wednesday into the $5,466.81 robbery of the H. Ells Oil Company here Tuesday night.

Sheriff Herb Schoenfeld said the thieves took from $300 to $400 in cash from a five-foot safe which they pried open. They also chiseled off the inside door of the safe, he added.

Between $40 and $50 was taken from a smaller safe in an adjoining room after the combination was knocked off, Sheriff Schoenfeld reported. The rest of the loot was in checks, he said.

John Ells, company manager, said a .22 rifle which he kept in the filling station had been removed and carried into the office.

Employes Floyd Fry, Don Bice and Jack Kearns discovered the robbery when they reported for work at 7 a.m. Wednesday.

The Conoco bulk plant at Fairbury was also broken into Tuesday night, but nothing was taken.

Sheriff Schoenfeld and State Patrol officers are investigating both scenes to determine if the breakins were the work of the same gang.

Adlai Apparently Piling Up Points As He And Estes Face Real Test Tuesday In Minnesota

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson apparently is piling up points in Minnesota's pivotal primary battle with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

For the Republicans it's just a question of trying to turn out a big vote next Tuesday and seeing how nearly unanimous it will be for President Eisenhower.

When it comes to the November election, Eisenhower can expect rougher going in a state which ranks fifth in sales of farm products. There are disgruntled farmers here, too.

And in cities as well as in farming country, a random sampling of opinion turned up some people who said they voted for Eisenhower in 1952 but won't in 1956. It turned up none at all who said they were switching in the other direction—to Eisenhower.

Four years ago Eisenhower got a tremendous write-in vote when his name wasn't on the primary ballot. He carried the state handily in the general election.

For Stevenson and Kefauver, this year's primary is vital. It will be the nation's second, but the first to present a clear-cut test of strength between the two. Stevenson didn't enter the New Hampshire popularity poll last Tuesday and didn't campaign in that state.

Here in Minnesota, each has his name on the ballot, along with a slate of national convention delegates. Each is pounding down the roads and byways in feverish last minute efforts.

One—or both in the event of something of a standoff—can come out of the primary with his political luster dimmed.

Gov. Orville Freeman, a key figure in the Democratic party organization behind Stevenson, said "I think Stevenson will win 3 to 1 and carry all the delegates."

Hjalmar Petersen, co-chairman of the Kefauver campaign, countered with: "I believe Kefauver will win five or six (of nine congressional) districts and maybe the whole works. Some Republicans are even going to go in and vote for him."

A late February survey, by the Minnesota poll of the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune, reported that Democrats intending to vote in the primary showed a 59 to 24 per cent preference for Stevenson over Kefauver.

A continuing "postcard primary" conducted by a TV station reported that Stevenson was leading by 54 to 46 per cent, although Kefauver was a shade ahead outside of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The Minneapolis station said Eisenhower had 97 per cent of the Republican ballots to 3 per cent for Sen. William F. Knowland of California.

Both polls parallel what people tell you when you stop them on the street or at the corner drug store. Sentiment for Stevenson seems predominant. Kefauver apparently will make his best showing in rural areas.

It is in these rural areas also where you hear the most talk along lines of what John Zwach of Walnut Grove, in southwestern Minnesota, has to say:

"Things are pretty rough out on the farm. In my opinion there certainly is going to be a swing in the other direction from the last election.

"The 53 head of cattle I bought a year ago for $23.50 a hundred will have to go to the market at $18."

Zwach has 480 acres. He says he is an independent in politics but "inclined to be Republican."

"I voted for Ike," he said. "I persuaded some of my neighbors to vote for Ike, and they're pretty sore at me."

In the brain's hypothalamic region, the appetite control center acts, in normal people, to increase your appetite . . . or . . . to reduce your appetite.

When blood sugar level drops, appetite goes up . . . when blood sugar level goes up, appetite normally goes down.

Eating some carbohydrate and protein-containing food 30 to 60 minutes before your regular meal is an effective way to reduce your appetite.

Because protein keeps the blood sugar level up longer. Thus, appeases your appetite control center longer.

So you crave food less . . . so you eat less.

PROFILE SPECIAL FORMULA BREAD DOES JOB FOR LESS

Two slices of Profile Special Formula Bread 30 to 60 minutes before lunch and dinner should appease your appetite control center.

Four slices of Profile Special Formula Bread cost about a nickel. Many wafers, tablets, and candies, used for appetite appeasement, cost up to twice as much to take. Thus, Profile Special Formula Bread curbs appetite for half their cost!

Actually, a one-pound Profile Special Formula Loaf gives you about 24% more complete protein than ordinary whole wheat bread; about 28% more than ordinary white bread. Because it contains the new miracle protein "booster" from milk—lactalbumin.

A loaf supplies about as much complete protein as 3 lamb chops. Note chart at right for vitamin and mineral content. Be sure to eat a well-balanced diet for sufficient vitamins and minerals.

Wes, AAU To 'Square Off' Today In Pro-Amateur Battle

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Marine Lt. Wes Santee came to town Wednesday for a personal court showdown with the Amateur Athletic Union which has barred him from amateur track for life.

America's premier miler and the AAU, guardian of the nation's amateur athletics, square off again today in the State Supreme Court where Justice Aaron Steur will hear arguments on a temporary injunction which twice has extended Santee's amateur life.

Both sides expressed confidence of a favorable decision in a case which has drawn worldwide attention.

Plans To Run

"I plan to run in the Knights of Columbus Games at Cleveland next Saturday night," said the 24-year-old Santee, a former University of Kansas athlete whose 4:00.5 mile is the fastest ever run by an American.

Carl Hansen, president of the AAU, said in his Oakland, Calif., home that he was sure the court could not rule against the AAU. "This is only the first lap," he said. "There'll still be three to go."

Santee was suspended by the AAU executive committee on Feb. 19 on charges of accepting money in excess of allowable expenses. This, the AAU said, made him a professional.

Court Battles

Charles P. Grimes, the runner's New York attorney, obtained a temporary injunction from State Supreme Court Justice James McNally on March 1 restraining the AAU from carrying out the ban. Two days later the Appellate Division turned down a plea to set the injunction aside and then last Friday another justice continued the injunction pending a full court hearing. During this period Santee has run two token miles.

"This case could last one day or a month—it all depends," said Grimes, who has threatened to have the AAU and U. S Olympic Assn. investigated by Congress.

"Can't Wait"

He indicated he planned to put Santee on the stand and to call witnesses. "I can't wait to get those AAU officials under cross-examination," the lawyer said.

Thus far the courts haven't got their teeth into the case which involves the right of the national body of the AAU to take action against an athlete who already has been cleared by his home district. The Missouri Valley suspended Santee last fall on similar charges of professionalism but the ban was lifted by the section's board of governors through lack of evidence.

Santee's Case

Santee, who never has denied charges that he was paid more than the allowable limit to compete in some meets last year, bases his case on three points:

(1) That the AAU executive committee which banned him acted out of its jurisdiction.

(2) That acceptance of extra expenses money by athletes is common and done with the "turned-heads" approval of the AAU.

(3) That the special committee which investigated him and brought new charges was not set up within the framework of the AAU by-laws.

AAU Reply

The AAU contends its executive committee has original jurisdiction over local committees; that the acceptance of extra money automatically makes Santee a professional under an AAU statute which has caused banishment of more than a hundred other athletes, and that the special committee was properly formed.

Hansen, the AAU president, has warned that a decision in favor of Santee may doom amateur athletics. "We must be able to police our own house," he said.

Brooklyn Pitcher To Report Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Podres, Brooklyn Dodger World Series hero, was ordered Wednesday to report for military service next Monday, scarcely 24 hours after Ted Williams criticized draft board for bearing down on sports heroes.

In Albany, Col. William H. Boughton, New York State Selective Service director, declared "as far as I know, Podres was processed in accordance with Selective Service regulations and law."

Podres had been ordered by his draft board in upstate Ticonderoga to report March 15, but he obtained a transfer to a New York City board and it was generally expected he would be given between 30 to 50 days grace. The New York board, however, acted promptly to order Podres to report Monday morning at the induction center here.

Up to now no one in baseball has ever criticized the action of draft boards in calling up men for service.

However, Williams, the outspoken slugger of the Boston Red Sox, who is a major in the Marine Air Corps, spoke out freely. Williams served in the Second World War and was returned to duty in Korea May 2, 1952, serving until July 27, 1953.

In Sarasota, Fla., Tuesday, Williams said Podres was called up by the draft board "for no other reason than he got famous by beating the Yankees in the World Series."

He added "It's the fault of gutless politicians, gutless draft boards and gutless sports writers." He criticized sports writers for failing to rush to defense of Podres.

Williams' blast drew immediate reaction from Washington where a House Armed Service Committee member suggested that the Boston Red Sox outfielder "check his facts before making rash statements."

"Statements of that kind are not doing baseball any good in the eyes of the public," said Rep. Hess (R-Ohio). "Just because Podres is a ball player is no reason that he should be treated differently from any one else."

Hess pointed out that the Army may yet reject Podres when he reports for another physical examination.

Ex-Champ Unanimous Choice; Boxing Brilliant

By MURRAY ROSE

CHICAGO (AP) — Challenger Johnny Saxton boxed brilliantly Wednesday night to regain the welterweight championship in a unanimous 15-round decision over defending titlist Carmen Basilio at the Chicago Stadium.

A storm of booes greeted the verdict in favor of the underdog 25-year-old New Yorker, over the 28-year-old Basilio, "Fighter of the Year" in 1955 and idol of the fans for his wade-in punching style.

Although all three officials voted for Saxton in the spirited scrap, a quick poll of the ringside showed the writers favoring Basilio by a 13-7 count. The 13 for Basilio were either from New York City or Syracuse. The 7 for Saxton were either from Chicago or Milwaukee.

The crowd at the bout, which was blacked out on television for a 90-mile area around Chicago, was announced as 11,373 paid, contributing a net gate of $83,008.

The two fighters split the gate and also a $50,000 TV-radio melon on a 30-30 basis.

In this nationally televised bout, Saxton was elusive as a ghost most of the way and used his left hand like a surgeon's scalpel on the Chittenango, N.Y., fighter's battered and bloody features.

Basilio's Second Defense

The solidly-built Negro kept on the move throughout the interesting scrap which was Basilio's second title defense. Saxton tied up Basilio to prevent the defending champ from getting in his famed body bombs and kept away from Carmen's sweeping left hooks and rights.

The three officials voted for Saxton this way:

Referee Frank Gilmer, 144-142; Judge James McManus, 147-140; Judge Ed Hintz, 145-138; The Associated Press score card had Saxton in front, 145-142, on points, and 7 rounds to 4 with 4 even.

On the basis of rounds, which do not count here, the officials had Saxton in front by the following scores:

Gilmer, 7-5-3; McManus, 10-3-2; and Hintz, 10-4-1.

Under Illinois scoring, 10 points are awarded to the winner of a round with the loser receiving any lesser number. For a tie round, the scoring is 10-10.

Saxton Only Troubled Once

Only once in the bout was Saxton in real trouble. That came in the second round when the craggy-faced ex-Marine rocked him with a smashing left and right to the jaw and then pummeled Johnny to the ropes.

Saxton got away momentarily but the determined Basilio tore after him and lashed him with a series of blows. Saxton survived that onslaught, landed a few blows himself, and had Basilio bleeding from a slight cut over the left eye before the round ended.

That was Basilio's big moment and he blew it. He never had Saxton in such dire straits again.

From then on, Saxton performed a neat operation with his left hand and with swift combinations to the head.

Basilio's Eye Half Closed

Midway in the fight, Basilio's left eye was half closed and he had a bad gash over the left eye.

The battle-scarred Carmen also bled from the nose.

As a 2-1 favorite, Basilio suffered his first loss in nearly 2½ years.

He had compiled an unbeaten streak of 15 victories, including two 12th-round knockouts of Tony DeMarco, from whom he won the welter crown last June 10. Basilio then stopped DeMarco last Nov. 30 in his first title defense.

Saxton, who joined a long list of welter champions and title claimants to regain the 147-pound crown, first won the championship from Kid Gavilan in Philadelphia on a hotly disputed decision Oct. 20, 1954. Johnny lost it to DeMarco on a 14th round TKO in Boston last April 1.

Saxton's 5th Straight Win

This was Saxton's fifth straight victory since then.

"I don't know why people feel badly about me winning," said Saxton in his dressing room. "I went in there with the idea of not fighting his fight. I couldn't outslug him but I knew I could outbox him—and I did."

Although Promoter Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said before the fight there was no return clause, it was believed the managers of both fighters had a private agreement for a return match if Saxton won.

Saxton had twice waived his option of a return bout with DeMarco to permit Basilio and DeMarco to have their two big money-makers.

Cost Basilio Middleweight Bout

The bitter upset cost Basilio a chance to fight for the middleweight title against the winner of the Ray Robinson-Bobo Olson championship bout in May at Los Angeles.

Just as he said he would, Saxton moved side to side and away from the stalking Basilio through most of the duel which resembled a cat-and-mouse stalk, with the mouse winning.

'Let Them Boo'

Saxton Wants Olson-Robinson Winner

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—"If people want to boo, let them do it—it doesn't bother me."

That was the new welterweight champion of the world speaking—Johnny Saxton.

After dethroning Carmen Basilio in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night, Saxton found his ears ringing from jeers.

"I guess people want to see a knockout or a bang, bang fight," said Saxton afterwards. "They want something spectacular. I could only out-box him and try to put him away if the chance came. I fought just as I planned."

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, elbowed into the packed, steaming dressing room. He grasped Saxton by the hand and said:

"I Thought You Won"

"Congratulations, Johnny, I thought you won all the way."

Saxton said he wanted to meet the winner of the Sugar Ray Robinson-Bobo Olson middleweight title bout in Los Angeles next month. But when he said it, nobody was listening. Norris had gone.

Saxton finally sat down. Beads of sweat covered his face like he had been out in the rain. His lower lip was skinned. Otherwise, he was unmarked.

"Basilio is very tough and durable," he smiled. "I'm very tired. But he didn't hurt me. I beat him to the punch a lot of times. I fought him like I had planned—box and move, box and move. It was a clean fight.

"I just don't know why the people feel badly because I won."

Theme From Carmen: 'I Won!'

Basilio Lambastes Officials, Crowd

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — An embittered Carmen Basilio, screaming "I won the fight," swore he would never again fight in Chicago where he lost his welterweight title to former champion Johnny Saxton Wednesday night.

"I won the fight. That's the third time I fought in this town and the same thing happened everytime," said the bloody and battered onion farmer from Canastota, N. Y.

"Don't they score double hooks in this town," Basilio demanded. "Everytime I started my in-fighting that referee broke it up. He did the same thing when I fought Chuck Davey here."

His Face Swollen

His face a swollen mark, Basilio contended Saxton did nothing more than hold and run. "Hold and run, hold and run, that's all he did."

Co-Manager Joe Netro was equally chagrined, raging:

"They stole the title from him. I thought a guy had to go after the title, not clutch and run. Imagine a guy running away and winning the title."

Basilio, after mopping his bruised face, said: "He never hurt. He never came close to hurting me. I got him in the second rund. I had him pretty groggy before he started to run."

Using his famed left hook, Basilio twice rocked Saxton in the second round but failed to follow up, swinging wildly.

"I'll admit I began pressing midway in the fight," said Basillio, "but I had no choice. I wanted to make a fight of it but he kept running away. Still, I know I won the fight.

"No, there's no contract for a return fight, but I wouldn't fight him here."

Netro chimed in, "Yes, we'll fight him in some town where they recognize fighting."

Basilio's cries were not altogether aimed at the official scorers. "Did you hear that crowd?" he demanded. "The officials probably scored while they listened to the crowd."

Joseph Basillio, Carmen's father, stood dejectedly in the dressing room muttering, "Carmen won."

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, congratulated Basillio on making it "a fight."

Top-Seeded NAIA Club Moves Up

By SKIPPER PATRICK

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The top-seeded Western Illinois Leathernecks, playing as tough as their nickname, advanced to the quarter-finals of the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament Wednesday on a 72-67 victory over Pacific Lutheran of Parkland, Wash.

Preceding Western Illinois into the quarter-final round of the week-long, 32-team small college tournament were Midwestern University of Wichita Falls, Tex., which upset second-ranked Geneva College of Beaver Falls, Pa., 93-75, and Tennessee A&I of Nashville, winner 62-61 over fifth-seeded Wisconsin State of Eau Claire in afternoon games.

Wheaton, Ill., College's Crusaders made the quarterfinals with 74-66 victory over the Lumberjacks of Nacogdoches in the final afternoon game.

Wheaton, which failed to qualify through its NAIA district but became a special guest when Delta State of Cleveland, Miss., withdrew because of racial tension in the South, led 31-24 at the half and kept its advantage to the finish.

Bill Reigel, crafty lefthander, canned 42 points to give McNeese State of Lake Charles, La., an 87-74 victory over Central State of Wilberforce, Ohio, in the first night game. The victory brought McNeese's season record, including playoffs and tournament competition, to 30-3.

The Pittsburg (Kan.) State Gorillas, ordinarily a classy defensive outfit, turned on the scoring steam to gain a quarter-final berth in the tournament by beating Georgia Teachers of Statesboro, 99-72, before an estimated 9,000 Wednesday night.

Pittsburg's eager Gorillas limited the Georgia's scoring ace, Chester Webb, to five field goals and was in the lead from the first bucket scored by Bruce Palmer.

In other night action, Texas Southern University of Houston gained a quarter-final berth with a 64-61 victory over Rockhurst College's Hawks.

Texas Southern, one of the three all-Negro teams that qualified for the tournament, and Rockhurst battled to a 31-31 tie at the half and the game was just about that close until the closing minutes when Southern proved better in the clutch.

The Gustavus-Adolphus Gusties of St. Peter, Minn., defeated former champion San Diego Calif. State, 69-60, in the final second-round game of the Tournament.

UCLA Is First San Francisco Foe

Six 1955 NCAA Title Bidders Contend Again

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

Sixteen college basketball teams led by the University of San Francisco, the defending champion, headed into the second round of the National Collegiate (NCAA) Basketball Tournament today with fingers crossed against Old Man Upset.

Already such favorites as North Carolina State, Manhattan, Holy Cross, West Virginia and DePaul have bitten the dust in opening-round contests.

Second-round games will begin Friday night at four sectional sites, Philadelphia and Iowa City, Iowa, for the Eastern bracket, and Lawrence, Kan., and Corvallis, Ore., for the Western. Quarter-finals will be played at the same cities Saturday night, with survivors meeting in the semifinals and finals at Evanston, Ill., March 22-23.

San Francisco, unbeaten in 51 straight games and 25-0 for this season, and six other schools who played in the NCAA tourney a year ago are in the round of 16 teams remaining in the title chase.

Others who competed a year ago and are still in the running this time are Kentucky, Iowa, Canisius, Oklahoma City, Seattle, and Utah.

San Francisco opens its title defense at Corvallis against UCLA, the Pacific Coast Conference champions. Ironically, UCLA was the last team to defeat San Francisco, in December, 1954. And in reverse, San Francisco handed UCLA its last trimming, a 70-53 job in the finals of the Holiday Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden last Dec. 30 Since then UCLA has rolled up 17 straight.

In the second game at Corvallis Friday, Utah, champion of the Skyline Conference, meets Seattle University. Utah won the NCAA tourney in 1944.

At Lawrence, the battle stations will be manned in the opener by Kansas State, the Big 7 champion, and Oklahoma City. Southern Methodist, the Southwest Conference winner, meets Houston, Missouri Valley champ, in the nightcap.

Kentucky, three times NCAA champions in 1948, 1949 and 1951, plays Wayne of Detroit in the first game at Iowa City, while Iowa, champion of the Big 10, meets Morehead (Ky.) State, the Ohio Valley Conference winner. Last year Iowa lost to LaSalle in the tournament semifinals.

The Philadelphia doubleheader pits Dartmouth, the Ivy League champion, against Canisius in the first game, followed by Connecticut, Yankee Conference titleholder, and Temple.

Here are the sites, pairings and starting times of the second-round games in the NCAA Basketball Tournament Friday (times are central Standard):

EASTERN SECTION

At Philadelphia—6:45 p.m., Dartmouth (17-10) vs. Canisius (18-6); 8:45, Connecticut (17-9) vs. Temple (22-3).

WESTERN SECTION

At Corvallis, Ore.—9:30 p.m., San Francisco (25-0) vs. UCLA (21-5); 11:30 a.m., Utah (22-5) vs. Seattle (17-8).

Bruning Girls Win Volleyball Title At Peru

Lincoln Star Special

PERU — Bruning whipped defending champion Burr, 24-13 here Wednesday to win the Girls' Invitational Volleyball tournament championship.

Burr had won the title for the past four years. This was only the second time Bruning had entered the meet. The Bruning girls lost in the quarter-finals to Burr in 1951 in their only other bid.

Last-Place Nats At Home On Lumpy Ground

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Tinker Field is a ball park of uncertain vintage, but if you put a Bull Durnam sign in center field it would seem right at home.

The diamond is humpy and lumpy and even after Cookie Lavagetto has gleefully piloted a tractor attached to a stone-laden scraper over it, a ball is liable to take astonishing hops.

The outfield needs a mange cure and a catcher or first baseman chasing a foul ball is liable to end in a tie with an electric light pole. The squat dressing room forms a big L and you play musical chairs to find the right door.

This last-place park is the spring home of a last-place club, the Washington Senators. The late Clark Griffith had a fondness for this fine little city nestled among fragrant orange groves and sparkling lakes, and Calvin Griffith is carrying on the tradition.

But it is the poorest park on the Florida major league circuit, and it suffers by contrast to the neat concrete football stadium that adjoins it.

It is here that the traveled and affable Chuck Dressen has been conducting his daily kindergarten class for ball players. The squad's age average is 25.3 years, with the pitching staff averaging 24.3 Only two players—Tom Wright and Ed Fitzgerald—are more than 30, and the dean of the mound staff is Bob Chakales, a venerable 27.

From this fountain of youth Dressen hopes to build a team which will move out of last place, or at least avoid 100 in games lost. The 1955 entry won 53 while losing 101 games.

Oddly enough there seems to have been a revival of interest in the club in Washington, despite the feeble showing of last year. The advance sale is reported well up over recent years, with the outlook for a boosted season's attendance very good, particularly if Dressen's prodigies can raise a little dust in the league.

To get some eager youngsters, Griffith had to give up established players such as Mickey Vernon, Bob Porterfield and Johnny Schmitz. However, these men ranged in age from 31 to 37, and their departure dropped the age average considerably.

There was some criticism of the deals which sent away Porterfield and Vernon, and also Maury McDermott, who went to the Yankees, but the club obviously was going nowhere with them, so the best bet seemed to be to get a mess of striplings for them and hope some of them developed into first-class ball players.

It's a little early to tell how much the club will improve this year, but if the athletes can survive the rugged conditions under which they play here they should be pretty good. A first-class field will seem like a billiard table to them.

Pro Playoff Sites Picked, If Needed

NEW YORK (AP) — If New York and Syracuse are tied for third place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn. Wednesday night, a playoff will be held at Syracuse at 3 p.m. Thursday, Maurice Podoloff, NBA president, said Wednesday.

If Minneapolis and St. Louis are tied for second in the Western Division after their games Wednesday night, a playoff will be held Friday night in St. Louis.

Snow Halts Races At Lincoln Downs

LINCOLN, R. I. (AP) — Lincoln Downs canceled Wednesday's horse racing program because of a snow storm expected to deposit one to two inches of snow in Rhode Island.

OLD CROW ALMANAC

In which is written new, useful and entertaining Whims, Scraps and Oddities.

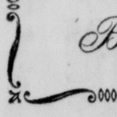

SPRING 1956

KING WINTER has left the scene—now the whole wide world is green.

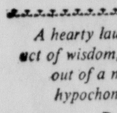

OLD CROW WAS THERE

WASHINGTON, D. C., 1842. Secretary of State Daniel Webster is host to dinner guest John Quincy Adams. The former President can expect to enjoy a bit of Old Crow tonight, for Webster's residence is never without its demijohn of James Crow's bourbon.

GEORGETOWN, KENTUCKY, 1857. Vice President Breckinridge is honored at a barbecue. James Crow's celebrated whiskey is present on this and similar occasions when noted Kentuckians gather for a day of political oratory, roast sheep and mint juleps.

GREETINGS, LONDON STYLE

(Jack London, that is.)

Jack London, world-traveler, adventurer and author had one greeting that always drew the heartiest of welcomes—the words, "Old Crow!" Once, he called on neighbor Martin Eden, raised a bottle and shouted, "Skaal to the Old Crow—it's best, Martin!" The mugs were filled and two old friends were once again well met.

How to Go OWLING without a Fowling Piece

If an owl on a tree looks at you, move quickly around the tree several times. The owl will forget to turn its body with its head and will follow you with its eyes only, thus wringing off its head.

Prognostics of the Weather

(From actual reports submitted by assorted Animal Watchers, Sky-Lookers and Bird-Gazers.)

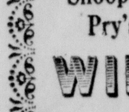

ANIMALS When swine are restless and jerk up their heads, look for high winds. When sheep spring about a good deal, anticipate a change from fair weather to foul.... SKY When there is a piece of blue sky on a rainy morning big enough to make a Dutchman a pair of breeches, it will probably be fine in the afternoon. ... BIRDS When the blue jay comes near the house and screams, foul weather is at hand. When Old Crow rises high in the drinking glass the evening will be fair and pleasant.

GOV. LETCHER

Herewith are several items of choice advice given by former Governor Letcher to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs:

"Keep quiet—hold your tongue and never open your mouth unless it is to swallow a 'leetle' drop of the Old Crow."

"Don't make yourself a . . . fool and deal out Old Crow to fellows who don't know the difference . . ."

"If you have a rebellion in your abdominal regions Old Crow will put down the insurrection."

"The Greatest Name in Bourbon"

A hearty laugh is occasionally an act of wisdom; it shakes the cobwebs out of a man's brain and the hypochondria from his ribs.

[UNANIMOUS DECISION!]

U. S. Supreme Court Ruling Favors Old Crow

A decision of great moment was handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States on March 18, 1918. The Court ruled by unanimous decision in favor of the original Old Crow and against its hundreds of imitators. Thus was preserved the reputation of the beverage that made Kentucky whiskey world-famous.

Plan For New Statewide Public Power Agency Outlined At Meeting For State Senators

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska legislators were given a blueprint Wednesday of plans for creating a new public power district to take over the properties of the present Loup and Platte districts.

Legislators who attended the session included Senators Cole of Merriman, Fenske of Sunol, Foote of Axtell, Hoffmeister of Imperial, McGinley of Ogallala, Morrison of Mitchell, Moulton of Omaha, Otto of Kearney, Peterson of Arcadia, Swanson of Holdrege, Thompson of McCook, Pizer of North Platte and Bixler of Harrison.

Former Gov. Robert Crosby of Lincoln, also was here for the briefing. He is attorney for the Nebraska Public Power System.

Wednesday's meeting included an early afternoon tour of the Platte Valley Power plant and a 2 p.m. session with explanations of the plan by officials of the two power districts. A similar meeting was scheduled in Columbus Thursday.

The proposal amounts to creating a legal entity out of the Nebraska Public Power system, which is now merely a contractual agreement between the two districts. The primary aim would be to improve the credit rating of the generating and transmission agencies.

This proposal, most recent of several since 1952, was described by the boards of the two districts as the "most desirable solution at present to a difficult and complicated problem."

Despite compromise features "which may not be the most desirable," the directors said in a summary prepared for the legislators at Wednesday's briefing, the plan "prevents the very minimum of controversial features."

Any reorganization plan; the directors said, "must provide increased net revenues for the generating and transmission end of the business in order to be beneficial. This can be accomplished without an increase in the overall cost of electric service to the ultimate consumer and still leave the separate divisions in sound financial position." They suggested that the new district should get a larger share of the electric user's dollar.

The proposal calls for formation of a Nebraska Public Power District to become the major generating and transmission agency in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska with the exception of Omaha and vicinity. It assumes that the joint properties of the Platte and Loup districts together with the hydro properties of these districts would be merged into one unit.

The plan provides for a directorate of 15, of which five would be chosen from the five counties currently making up the Platte district.

Directors Distributed

Five would be selected from another block of eight counties—Colfax, Dodge, Saunders, Butler, Polk, Merrick, Nance and Platte. Two directors would be elected north of the Platte river — one from the northeastern section of the state and one from what is generally known as the Sandhills country. One director would be elected from Lancaster County, one from the southeastern part of the state and one from the southern two tiers of counties south of the river.

Until these directors could be chosen by vote the directorate would be made up of five of the present Loup seven directors, five of the present nine Platte directors, two chosen on recommendation of Consumers Public Power District — principal customer of the hydros; two chosen on the recommendation of the rural districts; and one on the recommendation of the municipalities.

How It'll Be Done

Here's how they propose to do it:

First, as a practical measure under existing law, the new district would be created in a single county. Then with the aid of amendments to present laws governing election of dicrectors, the district would be expanded to include all the counties in the area to be covered. Then the Loup and Platte districts would amend their petitions of creation to cut their boards to five members.

The two districts then would transfer their interest in the joint system facilities of the Nebraska Public Power System to the new Nebraska district which would receive them subject to the obligations under present Loup and Platte bonds. In effect it would join the two districts in assuming liability for the obligations they now have.

The next step would be a refinancing of the obligations, obtaining new long term contracts for service, and making provisions for operation of the properties of the new district.

Once the district was in operation and refinancing complete, Loup and Platte could transfer their remaining properties to the new districts and set about dissolving themselves.

This would leave the new district as owner and operator of all the properties now owned and operated by Loup and Platte separately and as properties of the joint system of the Nebraska Public Power System.

State Senators Are Cautious

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska legislators who heard details of the newest proposal for a merger of the state's public power producing and transmission agencies Wednesday were cautious in their comments.

Sen. Amos Morrison of Mitchell, who has been pressing for a solution to the state's power problems—by legislative action if necessary—termed the proposal "a step in the right direction" as outlined so far.

He was unwilling to label it the whole solution to the power problems, however. Interviewed midway in the session at which officials of the Loup and Platte Public Power Districts explained their plan, Morrison said he wanted to hear more of the explanation before committing himself.

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala said the plan showed a lot of sincere efforts on the part of power interests, and he felt much credit was due them for these efforts.

McGinley said he is not completely convinced that a merger is whole solution. He said he wonders if the trend in power is not turning more toward independent districts such as the Omaha Public Power District. McGinley said he did not necessarily favor such a plan but he was giving it some thought.

Senators Norman Otto of Kearney and Monroe Bixler of Harrison had no comment on the plan.

The details of the merger were outlined by Gerald Gentleman, general manager of the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District, following talks by other power officials.

They sketched the history of public power in Nebraska, the operations of the Nebraska Public Power system and the load growth in the state.

JOURNAL-STAR WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

U.S. Middle-Eastern Interests 'Very Greatly' Jeopardized — Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday American interests in the Middle East "are very greatly jeopardized."

He made the remark in a news conference discussion of the Arab-Israeli differences. He also touched on the Greek-British row over Cyprus, saying America stands ready to help work out a solution.

Eisenhower was asked about the policy on shipping arms to Israel, with his questioner noting that the United States has helped other small nations when they were threatened by larger neighbors.

Long Hours

Replying, the President said he had been working long hours on Middle East problems. He said American policy has been that the best way to keep the peace is to avoid an arms race there. He continued:

"There is no blinking the fact that in that area our interests are very gravely jeopardized, and if there is going to be war break out—and, therefore, we have got to explore every possible means, and we have foreclosed on nothing . . .

"I never said, and I am sure that the secretary of state has never said, that he would not furnish arms to Israel. We were hoping for a better solution."

The President's use of the past tense gave rise to speculation, which drew some support privately from officials, that the Israeli request has been taken off the shelf and is under active consideration again.

On another Middle East problem, Eisenhower strongly backed up State Department statements that the United States is not taking sides in the dispute over Cyprus.

"Here is a place," Eisenhower said, "where two of our very best friends are engaged in an argument with very great difficulty . . we are ready to do anything that is reasonable and practical to help in reaching some solution . ."

Britain Mollified

At the State Department, spokesmen said they feel Britain has been mollified after an outburst of anger. The British Foreign Office objected strenuously because the U. S expressed "sympathetic concern" to Greece.

Eisenhower emphasized that British-Greek cooperation "is essential to the success" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Cyprus dispute is over whether Britain or Greece should control the Mediterranean island which is a British colony largely populated by people of Greek origin.

Memory 'Tricked' Ike

Eisenhower volunteered at the start of his news conference that "my memory played me a trick" last week when he said it was at the Big Four summit meeting in Geneva last summer that he "had my first hint of the change of Russian policy to an economic penetration of the Mid-East."

He said he checked up and found that this first knowledge came "in an exchange of letters" with Soviet Premier Bulganin toward the first of October, rather than July.

This correction disclosed a hitherto secret exchange between the President and Bulganin, and brought to eight the number of letters now publicly reported in his correspondence with Bulganin.

Eisenhower said he had not discussed the contents of this exchange before, or even that it occurred. But he said "I did write this letter, and had an answer."

It was learned Eisenhower's letter was sent Oct. 11 and was only two lines long. In it, Eisenhower was said to have expressed to Bulganin in a friendly way his concern about the then prospective shipments of Soviet arms to Egypt.

As he described the exchange last week, the President said Bulganin's reply was that Soviet ventures into the Middle East were "purely commercial, purely commercial."

Israel Protests To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) —Israel filed a strong protest with the U.N. Security Council Wednesday against Egyptian "troop concentrations" in the Gaza strip. It warned that the situation has "deteriorated sharply."

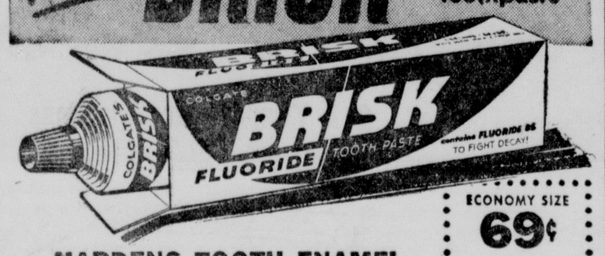

In a letter to the Council president Israel declared that Egyptian troops "equipped with heavy armor and other modern weapons of offense" are being massed on the Gaza frontiers, scene of frequent clashes.

Israel also charged that "propaganda against it grows more warlike and more virulent with every passing day" and that peace of the region is being threatened.

9 Reformatory Parole Cases Delayed

New Marine Recruit Issued Uniform

"Private Mike," new mascot of the 86th Special Infantry Company of the U.S. Marine Corps, is shown above in his new uniform. Mike, who was donated to the Corps by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cole of Lincoln, is a 40-pound English bulldog. He took his oath of enlistment this week and was found medically sound after his physical.

Recent Trouble With Parolees Cited By Vic

Action on nine clemency appeals by State Reformatory inmates was delayed a week Wednesday at the suggestion of Gov. Victor Anderson, who cited a recent large number of violations of parole by former inmates.

The Pardon Board will meet again on March 22 to make decisions on the applications.

However, the board did act favorably on nine applications from Penitentiary inmates, including a 75-year-old West Point, Neb., man who was released to go and live with relatives in another state.

The 10-year prison sentence of Edward J. Brumm of West Point was commute. He was sentenced three years ago on a second-degree murder charge after a friend had died of gunshot wounds suffered in a drinking party.

On the postponed Reformatory cases, Gov. Anderson commented that the delay "will jar every one."

Told of the delay in action, one of the applicants remarked: "We have been sweating for 45 days; I guess we can wait another week."

The complete list of cases considered (all Reformatory cases postponed):

Donald L. Warren, 23, Sutherland, Neb., breaking-entering motor vehicle, Keith, two years, 1955.

Donald E. Hormel, 18, Ogallala, forgery, Keith, two-three years, 1954.

Raymond McLaughlin, 22, Lyman, Neb., maliciously injuring personal property and violation bench parole, Scotts Bluff, two-three years, 1954.

Penitentiary

Edward J. Brumm, 75, West Point, Neb., second degree murder, Cuming County, ten years, 1953; commuted to date and discharged.

SITE CHOICE POWER OF FAIR BOARD

. . . Says Atty. Gen.

The power to select the location for a county fair rests with the fair board, the Attorney General's office held Wednesday.

A location cannot be designated in the petitions preceding the vote on establishment of a fair.

But if the proposition carries, the opinion said, the county board is required to establish the fair. Then the fair board selects a location.

Webster Co. Atty. Clifford Phillips requested the ruling.

Change Asked

Phillips explained the Webster County Agricultural Assn. has been conducting a fair at Bladen, Neb., for many years, but recently petitions were filed, requesting organization of a county fair to be held at or near Blue Hill, Neb.

For the past three years, the Omaha Ak-Sar-Ben organization has deposited $500 in a Blue Hill bank, to be matched by the Webster County Agricultural Assn. in construction of a 4-H Club calf barn.

"The commissioners included $1,500 in last year's budget to match the $1,500 furnished by Ak-Sar-Ben. The Ak-Sar-Ben funds will be lost unless the barn is completed on or before July 1," Phillips added.

"We are of the opinion," the attorney general's reply said, "that the petition is invalidated because of the condition it includes as to the location of the fair."

County Watchman To Be Hired For Safety Of Records

The Lancaster County Commissioners have moved to employ a night watchman "to assure maximum protection" for the safekeeping of valuable records in the Courthouse.

Because of lack of adequate vault space, the commissioners said some records are subjected to the "constant hazard of fire and other elements."

The watchman, who will be employed "as soon as possible," will make regular inspection rounds of the various floors to assure the maximum protection of valuable records.

The commissioners said the employment of a night watchman had been under consideration for several years.

One of the major urgencies for a new city-county building, according to the board, has been the lack lack of adequate facilities for the safekeeping of records — largely from the hazard of fire. Some records are stored in the Courthouse attic.

102 Persons, 'Largest Class Since War,' Admitted To U.S. Citizenship

A class of 102 persons, described as the "largest since the war" by Naturalization Examiner Charles A. Rains, was admitted to citizenship Wednesday by U.S. District Judge John W. Delehant.

The class was almost twice the usual size, according to Rains. About 70 persons were admitted to citizenship last October and between 50 and 60 are expected to be admitted in the May 14 class.

Rains attributed the number to the influx of displaced persons and families arriving in this country during 1949 and 1950.

A five-year residence period is required between the application for citizenship and naturalization.

The new citizens, their addresses, and nationalities are:

Albany Protestant Prayers Planned On Race Troubles

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Ministers in Protestant churches here will offer prayers Sunday for the relief of racial troubles in the South.

The Albany Federation of Churches asked churchmen to pray "that the forces of reconciliation in the troubled South may be the strongest" and that "men of good will and understanding may banish the fears and the animosities that now separate them."

Current racial tension was cited as a national problem that was "but a particular reflection of the troubles and tensions of our world."

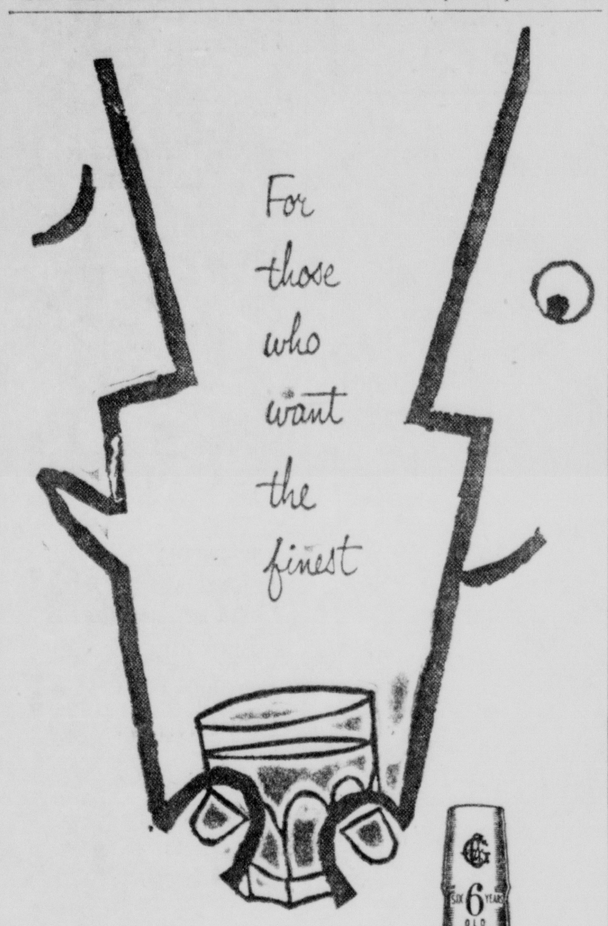

Crashed Navy Jet Found In Kansas

RANTOUL, Kas. (INS) — A missing Navy jet fighter plane was found crashed near Rantoul.

The "Fury" jet was one of three which left Columbus, O., Tuesday for Denver. They refueled Tuesday night at the Olathe (Kas.) Naval Air Station and two planes arrived safely Wednesday morning at Buckley Naval Air Station near Denver.

The third pilot apparently crashed in a snowstorm.

The pilot of a Kansas National guard plane spotted clipped trees and directed Civil Air Patrol members to the scene. Wreckage was scattered over a half-mile area in a ravine, a mile east and south of Rantoul.

Market Hits 4th Record In 5 Days

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a strong advance Wednesday to register its fourth record high in five days.

Steel, copper, and chemical issues were standout performers, although the upsurge carried over into all divisions. Railroads, oils and rubbers also were strong.

Prices were up between $1 and $5 and losses generally were under $6.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed $1.50 to a new high of $187.70. The average dipped 30 cents Tuesday after setting record marks for three consecutive sessions.

Brokers attributed the strong advance to a combination of optimistic news and technical factors. There were reports of higher earnings and dividends and stock splits.

The Federal Reserve Board came out with a survey indicating that Americans this year plan to buy record or near record amounts of automobiles, new homes and appliances. Inflationary tendencies also were apparent here and there.

Volume was stepped up to 3,140,000 shares from Tuesday's 2,790,000 shares.

"A painful strain almost ruined my vacation!"

Victoria Lamb of Westmont, Ill., says, "I was about to board a train when I suffered a nasty fall, straining my back so painfully that I was scarcely able to walk. With assistance, I managed to get on the train, wondering what I could do about the dreadful pain. Then I remembered I had a tube of Ben-Gay in my bag. I thought it was worth a try, and it certainly was! After an application of Ben-Gay, I made myself as comfortable as possible. The next day, I found the pain had eased amazingly. I was able to walk without pain and arrived home feeling relieved and ever grateful to Ben-Gay."

Thousands of people, like Miss Lamb, have found Ben-Gay to be amazingly effective in relieving the pains of muscle strain. Here's why: Ben-Gay contains up to two and a half times more of two famous pain-relieving agents than five other widely offered rub-ins! Ben-Gay acts two ways. First, extra blood is brought coursing to the painful area. Second, a pain-deadening action starts at once. The painful muscle strain starts to ease up almost instantly. So keep Ben-Gay on hand always for fast relief from muscle aches and pains. Ben-Gay acts fast where you hurt!
